Pia Glas-Greenwalt

The Leukemic Cell:

The Leukemic Cell Daniel Catovsky,1991 This new edition includes two new chapters each on cell markers and DNA analysis Also the role of ultrastructural morphology in immunocytochemistry is examined in greater detail than before and there is a new chapter on lymphoid malignancies The emphasis is on practical approach The Leukemia Cell Arnold D. Rubin,Samuel Waxman,1979 Dynamic Morphology of Leukemia Cells H. Felix,G. Haemmerli,P. Sträuli,2012-12-06 Dynamic Morphology is the attempt to correlate surface architecture and shape of fixed cells as visualized by scanning electron microscopy SEM with the behavior of living cells recorded by microcinematography MCM If SEM and MCM are used concurrently for the analysis of cell populations a dynamic interpretation of SEM photographs is only valid if the experimental conditions are identical for the two techniques This is achieved by allowing the cells to settle on a glass surface where they remain long enough to perform their various activities under conditions identical for both techniques for technical details see Methodology The analysis of a population necessitates the study of a large number of cells This prerequisite is met by operating the scanning electron microscope at low levels of magnification and by using culture chambers for cinematography It can be argued that the examination of attached cells excludes a complete SEM survey of a population as cells not adhering from the outset or becoming detached during the different preparatory steps are lost For this cinematography proved to be a reliable control All cell types recognized in time lapse films were also seen in scanning electron SE micrographs Another and more general objection to a dynamic interpretation concerns the artificiality of cellular behavior on glass This is true but does not invalidate comparative studies making use of this substrate The Leukemias: Etiology, Pathophysiology, and Treatment John W. Rebeck, Frank H. Bethell, Raymond W. Monto,2013-10-22 The Leukemias Etiology Pathophysiology and Treatment documents the proceedings of an International Symposium on The Leukemias Etiology and Pathophysiology held at Henry Ford Hospital Detroit Michigan 8 10 March 1956 This volume gives the present complex position of leukemic etiology and pathophysiologic disturbance a much needed knowledge of detailed leukocytic functions and comprehensive thought on the therapy of the leukemias It also establishes a basis of comparison with the earlier works of Downey and Forkner in this field in the late thirties and thus makes it possible to see with some clarity the extent of progress made The volume contains 39 papers organized into nine parts The papers in Part I focus on the leukemic cell its structure and antigenicity Part II presents studies on genetic and environmental factors in the transmission of leukemia Part III examines the radiation biology of leukocytes Part IV focuses on the leukemias and the malignant lymphomas while Part V deals with leukocytic physiology Part VI covers the metabolism of amino and nucleic acids in the leukemias Part VII takes up further biochemical considerations in the leukemias Part VIII contains papers that examine nucleic acids as the target for chemotherapy Part IX presents a round table discussion on therapy Modern Trends in Human Leukemia II R. Childhood Leukemias Ching-Hon Pui,1999-08-13 Childhood Leukemias edited by Dr Ching Hon Pui is the most clinically oriented and authoritative reference dedicated to these diseases The Leukemias Martha S. Linet,1985 This is the first comprehensive summary of the etiology of the various leukemias organized by cell type Focusing on the four major subtypes acute lymphocytic leukaemia chronic lymphocytic leukaemia acute non lymphocytic leukaemia and chronic myelocytic leukaemia the author presents both descriptive characteristics and a systematic examination of suspected aetiological agents with hundreds of references to epidemiologic and clinical studies Epidemiologists and oncologists in particular will benefit from the discussion of genetic and familial factors the critical review of reported leukaemia clusters and the extensive presentation of the relationship between other malignancies their treatments and subsequent development of leukaemia Cancer Chemotherapy Reports ,1964 Fibrinolysis in Disease - The Malignant Process, Interventions in Thrombogenic Mechanisms, and Novel Treatment Modalities Pia Glas-Greenwalt,1995-06-12 Fibrinolysis in Disease reviews the state of the art of basic and clinical aspects of the fibrinolytic enzyme system The text authored by outstanding and internationally known investigators is presented in two books The Malignant Process Interventions in Thrombogenic Mechanisms and Novel Treatment Modalities discusses the molecular biology of the system's key components and their fundamental roles in a variety of thrombotic and metabolic disorders Molecular and Hemovascular Aspects of Fibrinolysis presents the latest findings and concepts of the association between plasminogen activator u PA overexpression and abnormal growth regulation in a variety of solid tumors and in leukemia One chapter deals with various successful interventions in thrombogenic mechanisms ranging from exercise and diet to anticoagulants and direct and indirect thrombolytic agents It concludes with a projection of exciting novel treatment modalities in thrombotic and malignant diseases Unclassifiable Leukemias M. Bessis,G. Brecher,2012-12-06 Jean BERNARD I should like to begin with an assumption and a paradox The assumption is that leukemia is a disease of a stem cell characterized by pathological alterations of that cell and its progeny All present research and discussions are centered around the leukemic cell So is this symposium which would not take place except for our primary interest in the leukemic cell This does not preclude of course consideration of other definitions and other approaches to the problem By definition then the leukemic cells are abnormal cells and their metabolism and functions are presumed to be abnormal Yet the classification of the different types of leukemias is based upon the characteristics of normal cells We talk of lymphoblasts and myeloblasts as predominant cell types in leukemia This leads to a double paradox In the first place it is clearly illogical to classify abnormal cells by their resemblance to normal cells since their very abnormality consists in not being normal Yet as a second paradox the classification has had the happy consequence of aiding us in the treatment and prognosis of leukemia for the past 25 years A more detailed analysis shows that the consequence of this paradox are complex while there exists a useful correlation between cellular types treatment and prognosis numerous problems and difficulties persist The most serious of them concerns the unclassified leukemias which are the reason for this reunion

Wiernik,2003-06-09 In this fourth edition of the classic work on malignant blood cancers the team of editors and over 100 international leaders in the field provide a comprehensive text on the diagnosis and treatment of all hematologic malignancies both common and rare The sixty two chapters are divided into sections on Chronic Leukemias and Related Disorders Acute Leukemias Myeloma and Related Disorders Lymphomas and Supportive Care with a devoted editor for each section This extensively revised and updated edition reflects the tremendous progress in the science and treatment of hematologic malignancies during the eight years since the third edition in 1995 Revisions and new chapters include coverage of stem cell transplantation molecular genetics monoclonal antibodies and new treatment modalities The excellent discussions of current therapies for all hematologic neoplasms are more detailed than those in general oncology or hematology texts making this an essential reference for all hematologists and oncologists
