Frightening Fiction Kimberly Reynolds, Geraldine Brennan, Kevin McCarron, 2004-12-30
Edited by Morag Styles and written by an international team of acknowledged experts this series provides jargon-free critical discussion and a comprehensive guide to literary and popular texts for children. Each book introduces the reader to a major genre of children's literature covering the key authors, major works and contexts in which those texts are published, read and studied. The development of the horror genre in children's literature has been a startling phenomenon one that has provoked strong but mixed reactions. Frightening Fiction provides a lucid and lively guide to that genre ranging from analyses of such popular series as Point Horror, Goosebumps, the X-Files and the Buffy stories to the work of individual authors such as Robert Westall, David Almond, Philip Gross and Lesley Howarth.

Science Fiction and Fantasy Literature, 1975-1991 R. Reginald, Mary Wickizer Burgess, Daryl Furumi Mallett, 1992
Science fiction constitutes one of the largest and most widely read genres in literature and this reference provides bibliographical data on some 20,000 science fiction, fantasy and horror fiction books as well as nonfiction monographs about the literature. The entry for each individual work includes title, publisher, date and place published, number of pages, hardbound or paperback format and type of book (novel, anthology, etc.). Where appropriate entries also provide translation notes, series information, pseudonyms and remarks on special features such as celebrity introductions. Includes indexes of titles, series, awards and doubles for locating volumes containing two novels. Annotation copyright by Book News Inc, Portland, OR.

EBOOK: WHAT IS ENGLISH TEACHING? Chris Davis, 1996-03-16
Is it the role of English teachers to teach basic literacy skills? If not, what do English teachers think they should be doing? How should basic literacy be taught in schools? These are important questions which have recently attracted significant political, media and parental debate. In addressing them, this book explores the question 'What is English Teaching?' from a variety of perspectives including teachers' beliefs about what they should be teaching, the views of the government and the reality of young people's experiences in the 1990s. In particular, it explores the question of how and even whether the English subject area is capable of meeting its own and the outside world's expectations for teaching not only its specialist concerns but also general literacy. The book explores ways in which the teaching of English might develop for instance by balancing its efforts evenly between literature study, media study and knowledge about language and how it might contribute to wider literacy teaching by sharing its distinctive teaching strategies with teachers of other subjects. Children's Reading Choices Martin Coles, Christine Hall, 2002-01-04. Children's Reading Choices discusses the reading habits of children aged between 10 and 14. The book reports the findings of the Children's Reading Choices project conducted by the authors from the University of Nottingham and the largest national survey of children's reading choices since the 1970s. The book includes reports and discussion on girls and boys reading preferences and the differences between their reading habits, the place of series books, teenage magazines and comics in children's reading, the most popular authors and titles at different ages, purchasing habits and library use.

Voices Off Morag Styles, Eve Bearne, Victor Watson, 1996. The culmination of a trilogy on children's literature that began with After Alice and The Prose and the Passion. The 20 essays address a variety of genres and issues both in contemporary contexts and in the past. Among the contributors are novelists Jan Mark, Jill Paton Walsh and John Rowe Townsend, others include artists and booksellers. Their topics range from a bookseller's view of wasting money, the revenge of the teenage horror and Aesop for children to reading picture books, letter writing, picture books as small portable galleries, the masks of the narrator and critical literacy as a dangerous underground movement. Dream Date Sinclair Smith, 1993. From the author of the bestselling Point thriller The Waitress, Katie thinks she's met the perfect guy in her dreams. Then he starts making strange, threatening appearances in real life and Katie finds herself in a waking nightmare and finding it harder and harder to distinguish between what's real and what isn't.

Whitaker's Books in Print, 1998. The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1992. Thoth, 1973. The Thank You Note Libby Lazewnik, 2002. Another magical, memorable collection of captivating tales of home and school life. Adventure, humor and love on every unforgettable page.

Quonsett James F. Murphy, Jr., 1979-07. Youth's Companion, 1917. Voice of Youth Advocates, 1984. Toys and Novelties, 1913. Telos, 2008. The Youth's Companion Nathaniel Willis, Daniel Sharp Ford, 1917. Includes music.

What Do Young Adults Read Next? Pam Spencer, Pam Spencer Holley, 1994. Contains entries for over 1,300 books aimed at young adult readers. Titles have been selected on the basis of their currency, appeal to readers and literary merit.
