Wonderlands Charles Baxter, 2022-07-12 Searching and erudite new essays on writing from the author of Burning Down the House Charles Baxter's new collection of essays Wonderlands joins his other works of nonfiction Burning Down the House and The Art of Subtext In the mold of those books Baxter shares years of wisdom and reflection on what makes fiction work including essays that were first given as craft talks at the Bread Loaf Writers Conference The essays here range from brilliant thinking on the nature of wonderlands in the fiction of Haruki Murakami and other fabulist writers to how request moments function in a story Baxter is equally at home tackling a thorny matter such as charisma which intersects with political figures like the disastrous forty fifth US president as he is bringing new interest to subjects such as list making in fiction Amid these craft essays an interlude of two personal essays the story of a horrifying car crash and an introspective letter to a young poet add to the intimate nature of the book The final essay reflects on a lifetime of writing and closes with a memorable image of Baxter as a boy waiting at the window for a parent who never arrives and filling that absence with stories Wonderlands will stand alongside his prior work as an insightful and lasting work of criticism

Mapping Wonderlands Dori Griffin, 2013-05-02 Though tourism now plays a recognized role in historical research and regional studies the study of popular touristic images remains sidelined by chronological histories and objective statistics Further Arizona remains underexplored as an early twentieth century tourism destination when compared with nearby California and New Mexico With the notable exception of the Grand Canyon little has been written about tourism in the early days of Arizona's statehood Mapping Wonderlands fills part of this gap in existing regional studies by looking at early popular pictorial maps of Arizona These cartographic representations of the state utilize formal mapmaking conventions to create a place based state history They introduce illustrations unique naming conventions and written narratives to create carefully visualized landscapes that emphasize the touristic aspects of Arizona Analyzing the visual culture of tourism in illuminating detail this book documents how Arizona came to be identified as an appealing tourism destination Providing a historically situated analysis Dori Griffin draws on samples from a comprehensive collection of materials generated to promote tourism during Arizona's first half century of statehood She investigates the relationship between natural and constructed landscapes visual culture and narratives of place Featuring sixty six examples of these aesthetically appealing maps the book details how such maps offered tourists and other users a cohesive and storied image of the state Using historical documentation and rhetorical analysis this book combines visual design and historical narrative to reveal how early twentieth century mapmakers and map users collaborated to imagine Arizona as a tourist's paradise
