War II Religion of Tomorrow never received the proper recognition it deserved Now some eighty years later poet philosopher John Elof Boodin s manifesto for a popular Christian renaissance is more necessary than ever With an informative historical biographical introduction and more than one hundred textual notes editor Michael A Flannery presents Boodin s spiritual roadmap for a new audience to listen and follow the divine lure towards greater creativity and fulfillment to learn by living Boodin invites readers to embark upon their own Christian journeys with the poets and sages of the ages at their side Here Boodin becomes the informed travel guide well equipped with the knowledge of history the tools of science the sensibilities of never have thought there would be a need to just sit down and write But as he lay in bed at night the words tumbled out As the words formed thoughts the thoughts became ramblings like the sound of busy railroad tracks through his mind First one thought and then another He realized the only way he was going to sleep was to record those words on paper In Words on the Page he offers a compilation of these ramblings giving his dreams his experiences and his memories a home The selections speak to his faith his life and those he loves From Advent to Easter and from summer to autumn Carter records the midnight thoughts Through this process he discovered writing paved his road to a new normal to journey down paths of healing Carter encourages others to write not just from the standpoint of faith but from trauma from fears and from life s experiences
