Jews on the Move: Modern Cosmopolitan Thought and its Others Cathy Gelbin, Sander L. Gilman, 2019-12-18
Jewish cosmopolitanism is key to understanding both modern globalization and the old and new nationalism. Jewish cultures existing in the Western world during the last two centuries have been and continue to be read as hyphenated phenomena within a specific national context such as German Jewish or American Jewish culture. Yet to what extent do such nationalized constructs of Jewish culture and identity still dominate Jewish self-expressions and the discourses about them in the rapidly globalizing world of the twenty-first century? In a world in which Diaspora societies have begun to reshape themselves as part of a super- or nonnational identity, what has happened to a cosmopolitan Jewish identity? In a post-Zionist world where one of the newest and most substantial Diaspora communities is that of Israelis in the new globalized culture is being Jewish suddenly something that can reach beyond the older models of Diasporic integration or nationalism? Which new paradigms of Jewish self-location within the evolving and conflicting global discourses about the nation, race, Genocides, anti-Semitism, colonialism, and postcolonialism, gender, and sexual identities does the globalization of Jewish cultures open up? To what extent might transnational notions of Jewishness such as European Jewish identity create new discursive margins and centers? Is there a possibility that a virtual makom Jewish space might constitute itself? Recent studies on cosmopolitanism cite the Jewish experience as a key to the very notion of the movement of people for good or for ill, as well as for the resurgence of modern nationalism. These theories reflect newer models of postcolonialism and transnationalism in regard to global Jewish cultures. The present volume spans the widest reading of Jewish cosmopolitanisms to study Jews on the move. This book was originally published as a special issue of the European Review of History.
If This Is a Woman Denisa Neštáková, Katja Grosse-Sommer, Borbála Klacsmann, Jakub Drábik, 2021-12-14
The present volume contains thirteen articles based on work presented at the XX Century Conference If This Is a Woman at Comenius University Bratislava in January 2019. The conference was organized against anti-gender narratives and related attacks on academic freedom and women's rights, currently all too prevalent in East-Central Europe. The papers presented at the conference and in this volume focus to a significant extent on this region. They touch upon numerous points concerning gendered experiences of World War II and the Holocaust. By purposely emphasizing the female experience in the title, we encourage to fill the lacunae that still, four decades after the enrichment of Holocaust studies with a gendered lens, exist when it comes to female experiences.
Writing and the Articulation of Postqualitative Research David Lee Carlson, Ananí M. Vasquez, Anna Romero, 2023-04-25
Writing and the Articulation of Postqualitative Research is a collection of experimental essays on the implications of articulating or performing qualitative research from postqualitative philosophies. Although writing has been an integral part of qualitative research for better or worse throughout the history of the field, the recent emergence of postqualitative inquiry necessitates a reconsideration of writing. This collection of international authors explores the process and practice of writing in qualitative research from an onto epistemological perspective engaging with temporal spatial relational social cultural and affective concepts and dilemmas such as philosophical alignment advocacy in research and the privileging of written academic language for research dissemination The exploration of these questions can help qualitative researchers in the social sciences and humanities consider how modalities and processes of writing can alter shift and challenge the ways in which they articulate their research Thus rather than writing being a conveyor of the events happening during data collection or used to analyze data or display results the authors in this book consider writing as a primary agent in the research process This book has been designed for scholars in the social sciences and humanities who want to rethink how they use writing in their research endeavors and especially ones who are considering engaging with postqualitative research
