from The Personal Touch Their gay little staccato air beat on his brain to mock him when in his despair he catalogued the list of his own accomplishments the foolish unsalable list of the dilettante whom society calls charming I can dance I can sing I can fence I can play He had been a month in this hole of a place and now he had arrived at the end the vanishing point Before he had decided to die he had tried everything he could think of to live and not forfeit the loved one s admiration About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
