The Masquerade. A Poem ,1724 The King and the Maiden SB Morgan, 2014-12-01 The King and the Maiden is an intriguing story of the Ibibio culture and traditions Ekaette the central character in the book grew up in the village but later spent a greater part of her years outside her place of birth Despite leaving the village for so many years to study abroad she was disturbed by her childhood desire On her return she becomes a heroine to the people and a nightmare to some group of men as she inspired the young and elderly people in the village For her fame she was hunted by a council of elders who saw her closeness to the people as a threat to their influence on the people and the king At one point she became helpless when intimidation started coming from the dreaded masquerade with the backing of the council of chiefs as the highest governing council in the village They are feared by everybody in the village As nobody could intervene on her behalf she went into hiding when she discovered her life was in danger But when a group of people took to the street this set the stage for the resilient women union and the dreaded council of elders

The Masquerade ,1717 The English Novel, Vol I Richard W.F. Kroll, 2014-07-21 The English Novel Volume I 1700 to Fielding collects a series of previously published essays on the early eighteenth century novel in a single volume reflecting the proliferation of theoretical approaches since the 1970s The novel has been the object of some of the most exciting and important critical speculations and the eighteenth century novel has been at the centre of new approaches both to the novel and to the period between 1700 and 1750 Richard Kroll s introduction seeks to frame the contributions by reference to the most significant critical discussions These include the question of whether and how we can talk about the rise of the novel the vexed question of what might constitute a novel the relationship between the novel and possibly competing genres such as history or the romance the relationship between early male writers like Defoe and popular novels by women in the early eighteenth century the general ideological role played by novels relative to eighteenth century culture are they means of ideological conscription or liberation poststructuralist analyses of identity and gender and the emergence of sentimental and domestic codes after Richardson Since the modern European novel is often thought to have been formed in this period these debates have clear implications for students of the novel in general as well as for those interested in the early enlightenment Headnotes place each essay within the map of these wider concerns and the volume offers a useful further reading list Taken as a whole this collection encapsulates the state of criticism at the present moment
