Ben Hogan's Magical

Device Ted Hunt,2009-05-26 In 1954 Ben Hogan stated in the serialized lessons he wrote for Life magazine that he had a secret He challenged the world to find it by stating It is easy to see if I tell you where to look He then wrote his legendary instructional book Five Lessons and created a remarkable golf swing puzzle but somehow one important piece of information was missing Golf expert after golf expert have attempted to define this secret over the years serving to compile a rather lengthy list of what they think the secret is but never quite explaining how it s done Enter Ben Hogan s Magical Device a revealing book which intends to finally explain in universally understandable terms that long lost secret to Hogan s swing As a lifelong golfer with 50 years of experience two degrees in Physical Education and a Doctorate in History author Ted Hunt became determined to track down Hogan s secret himself He reviewed most of the literature concerning Hogan and interviewed many professionals including Jack Nicklaus and the result of his research produced a clearer understanding of the source of the confusion concerning Hogan s secret An hypothesis was conceived and tested and Hunt was pleased to discover that his analysis stood up to critical examination But perhaps more importantly his golf responded with more accuracy and lower scores which included shooting his age 79 several times within weeks of embracing the secret Complete with 100 photos illustrations and a foreword by movie star Sean Connery Ben Hogan s Magical Device gives an easy to follow explanation of Hogan s secret where it comes from and the foundations which support its successful execution Interspersed throughout the text are stories from professional acquaintances who spoke with Hunt about their times with Mr Hogan

Ben Hogan Tim Scott,2015-04-01 Ben Hogan s accomplishments on the golf course are the stuff of legends but his life off it was exceedingly private In this biography author Tim Scott demonstrates why such public perception was not representative of Hogan s personality offering a firsthand glimpse into the famous golfer s humor and sensitivity Hogan wasn t perfect and many of his fine qualities were never made public until now as Tim Scott shares his personal experience with

Hogan as well as Hogan's friends, family and acquaintances. Along the way, a clearer picture emerges of Hogan as a man, a golfer, a friend, and a husband. Bringing the Monster to Its Knees Ed Gruver, 2021-08-20. Bringing The Monster to its Knees Ben Hogan Oakland Hills and the 1951 U S Open is the first full length book on a victory that the four time U S Open champion always maintained was the most satisfying of his long and storied Hall of Fame career. It fills an important void in previous books on Hogan's tournament play books covering his championship quests from Merion in 1950 to the Olympic Club in San Francisco in 1955 to Cherry Hills in 1960. The 1951 U S Open at Oakland Hills is unique in that it represents the first time the USGA deliberately altered a course for a championship, a practice that became common in the years that followed and continues to this day. The result was The Monster, a creation of famed course architect Robert Trent Jones. It remains the most infamous course layout in history and arguably the most torturous test ever presented to golfers anywhere. Overcoming chronic pain that was a vestige of his near fatal car crash in 1949, a field filled with future Hall of Fame players and a course so devilish in its design that it was labeled Oakland Hells, Hogan called his record setting final round 67 in the 51 Open the greatest round I have ever played. He then issued one of the most famous quotes in sports history: I'm glad I brought this course this monster to its knees. Hogan, M.P. May Laffan, 1881. Decolonial Animal Ethics in Linda Hogan's Poetry and Prose Małgorzata Poks, 2023-07-28. Decolonial Animal Ethics in Linda Hogan's Poetry and Prose is a plea for an urgent redefinition of human-animal relations on the basis of a nonanthropocentric animal ethic embraced by premodern Indigenous communities but depreciated by coloniality. Without decolonial revisions of animal subjectivity and personhood, the animal genocide can never truly stop. It is also a close reading of Linda Hogan's poetry and prose in search of the coordinates of a decolonized animal ethic which would foster interspecies becoming. Having defined the recurring tropes, motifs, and attitudes that underpin Hogan's treatment of nonhuman animals, the book moves on to trace the way she depicts the human-animal bond, especially in the face of the destructive anthropogenic impact. The major questions guiding the analysis of Hogan's oeuvre are as follows: who are the animals we share our earthly lives with; what can they teach us about ourselves; how can animals guide us toward more sustainable futures; and what are the conditions of possibility of an interspecies human-animal thriving. This book will be of interest to scholars and students of Indigenous Studies, Decolonial Studies, Animal Studies, Ecocriticism, Anthropocene Studies, as well as readers of Linda Hogan's literary works. answer the question What would happen if someone from a culture that makes and uses motion pictures taught people who have never made or used motion pictures to do so for the first time They taught filmmaking and editing to a group of six Navajos in Pine Springs Arizona This book explains what happened what they and the Navajos said and thought about what happened and how they analyzed the films in a cultural context The films still available for rent are described in detail and illustrated with still photographs giving the reader an opportunity to see through the eyes of people from a different cultural background Richard Chalfen a research assistant on the original project in 1966 has updated the book with a thorough discussion of the importance of the Navajo project and a critical assessment of the reactions to it He has included a new section of references and an appendix offering answers to the ten most frequently asked questions about the project
