Total Speech An Integrational Linguistic Approach To Language:

Total Speech Michael Toolan, 1996 Units rules codes systems this is how most linguists study language Integrationalists such as Michael Toolan however focus instead on how language functions in seamless tandem with the rest of human activity In Total Speech Toolan provides a clear and comprehensive account of integrationalism a major new theory of language that declines to accept that text and context language and world are distinct and stable categories At the same time Toolan extends the integrationalist argument and calls for a radical change in contemporary theorizing about language and communication In every foundational area of linguistics from literal meaning and metaphor to the nature of repetition to the status of linguistic rules Toolan advances fascinating and provocative criticisms of received linguistic assumptions Drawing inspiration from the writings of language theorist Roy Harris Toolan brings the integrationalist perspective to bear on legal cases the reception of Salman Rushdie poetry and the language of children Toolan demonstrates that the embeddedness of language and the situation sensitive mutability of meaning reveal language as a tool for re fashioning and renewal Total Speech breaks free of standard linguistics fascinated attraction with cognitive blueprints and quasi algorithmic processing to characterize language anew Toolan s reflections on the essence of language including his important discussion of intention have strong implications for students and scholars of discourse analysis literature the law anthropology philosophy of language communication theory and cognitive science as well as linguistics

Language Teaching Michael Toolan, 2009-01-13 This book demonstrates the relevance of an integrational linguistic perspective to a practical real world need namely the learning of languages Integrational linguistics shunning of both realist and structuralist theories of language its commitment to an unwavering attention to the perspective of the language user and its adherence to a semiology in which signs are the situated products of interactants interpretive behaviour mean that it radically reconceptualizes language learning and language teaching Detractors have implied that IL is so philosophical or theoretical an exercise that it has no useful bearing on the practical problems of language learning These papers refute that misconception by demonstrating how an IL stance can help disentangle the conflicting considerations and contradictory assumptions that arise in a host of language teaching situations first second and foreign language classrooms in a diversity of settings including India Australia the United States and Hong Kong with different age groups of students whether the focus is on speech or writing and in more informal settings

The Reflexivity of Language and Linguistic Inquiry Dorthe Duncker, 2018-11-09 This book explores the reflexivity of language both from the perspective of the lay speaker and the linguistic analyst Linguistic inquiry is conditional upon linguistic reflexivity but so is language Without linguistic reflexivity we would not be able to make sense of everyday linguistic communication and the idea of a language would not be conceivable Not even fundamental notions such as words or meaning would exist Linguistic reflexivity is a feature of the communication process and it essentially depends on situated participants and time It is a defining characteristic of the human language but despite its obvious importance it is not very well understood theoretically and it is strangely under researched empirically Throughout history and in modern linguistics it has mostly either been taken for granted misconstrued or ignored Only integrational linguistics fully recognizes its specifically linguistic implications However integrational linguistics does not provide the necessary methodological basis for investigating linguistic phenomena empirically This catch 22 situation means that the goal of the book is twofold one part is to explore the reflexivity of language theoretically and the other part is to propose an applied integrational linguistics and to implement this proposal in practice
