Uprooting And After :

Uprooting and After... Charles Zwingmann, Maria Pfister-Amende, 2012-12-06 The unifying theme in this book is the suffering of millions of people and the attempts of many others to ameliorate such sufferings. A host of world renowned medical and social science specialists describe their experiences with people who have been beaten, battered, tortured, displaced and uprooted but have somehow survived those ordeals. From these experiences arose new insights into the problems of uprooting, a new appreciation of the concept of cultural relativism and a new terrifying glimpse of the limits of man's inhumanity to man. The relevance of this book lies in the fact that such ordeals are by no means absent in our world today. In this sense then the experiences presented and evaluated here serve to bring to focus for us as individuals concerns of all mankind. Through its explicit treatment of diagnoses, prognoses and therapeutic measures, the book however offers hope, a hope which is much needed in our conflict-torn world of today. W. F. Angermeier, Professor of Psychology, Heidelberg, 1973.

Acknowledgments We express our sincere appreciation to all those who made this book a reality: the authors, the publishers, the translators and the printers. For many of us this undertaking was a valuable and rewarding experience despite the numerous complications and delays caused by correspondence, ideological, political and professional differences between the undersigned, revisions and technical difficulties inherent in an intercontinental book production.

Life at the Nanoscale Yves Dufrene, 2019-03-28 Proceeding from basic fundamentals to applications, this volume provides a comprehensive overview of the use of AFM and related scanning probe microscopies for cell surface analysis. It covers all cell types from viruses and protoplasts to bacteria and animal cells. It also discusses a range of advanced AFM modalities including high resolution imaging, nanoindentation measurements, recognition imaging and single molecule and single cell force spectroscopy. The book covers methodologies for preparing and analyzing cells and membranes of all kinds and highlights recent examples to illustrate the power of AFM techniques in life sciences and nanomedicine.

Uprooted Albert Marrin, 2016-10-25 A Publishers Weekly Best Book of the Year, A Booklist Editor's Choice. On the 75th anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor comes a harrowing and enlightening look at the internment of Japanese Americans during World War II. From National Book Award finalist Albert Marrin: Just seventy-five years ago the American government did something that most would consider unthinkable today: it rounded up over 100,000 of its own citizens based on nothing more than their ancestry and suspicious of their loyalty, kept them in concentration camps for the better part of four years. How could this have happened? Uprooted takes a close look at the history of racism in America and carefully follows the treacherous path that led one of our nation's most beloved presidents to make this decision. Meanwhile, it also illuminates the history of Japan and its own struggles with racism and xenophobia which led to the bombing of Pearl Harbor, ultimately tying the two countries together. Today America is still filled with racial tension and personal liberty in wartime is as relevant a topic as ever. Moving and impactful. National Book Award finalist. Albert Marrin's
