The Urban Social History of the Middle East, 1750-1950 Peter Sluglett,2008-12-08 The great cities of the Middle East and North Africa have long attracted the attention and interest of historians With the discovery and wider use over the last few decades of Islamic court records and Ottoman administrative documents our knowledge of Middle Eastern cities between the seventeenth and early twentieth centuries has vastly expanded Drawing upon a treasure trove of documents and using a variety of methodologies the contributors succeed in providing a significant overview of the ways in which Middle Eastern cities can be studied as well as an excellent introduction to current literature in the field Economic Change and Urbanization in the Middle East Charles Philip Issawi,1966 An Urban Profile of the Middle East M. Hugh P. Roberts,1979 Monograph on urban planning and urban development in the Middle East and North Africa covers the characteristics of traditional urbanization the impact of economic growth on Motivation for urban development etc examines trends in housing population growth in urban areas and future urban planning strategy and includes projections of total urban population in the areas until 2000 Bibliographys at end of chapters diagrams maps references and statistical tables An Urban Profile of the Middle East Hugh Roberts,2020-10-07 Changes in economic and social conditions throughout the Middle East have been profound and perhaps nowhere has this been more evident than in the field of urban development and town planning This book first published in 1979 provides a view of the Middle East as it undergoes transition by identifying and analysing the symptoms of change Knowledge-Based Urban Development in the Middle East Alraouf, Ali A.,2018-03-02 The knowledge economy has become an important part of contemporary development for cities in a time of globalization and expansion Examining theories of knowledge transfer and urban advancement allows for better adaptation in a changing global society Knowledge Based Urban Development in the Middle East provides emerging research on the contemporary practices of architecture urban design and implementation in contemporary Middle Eastern cities Highlighting a range of pertinent topics such as creative economy knowledge development and learning communities this book is an important resource for academics researchers practitioners and decision makers seeking current research on the issues and challenges of implementing knowledge based urban development in Middle Eastern cities Urbanization in the Middle East, with Some References to North Africa Lenwood G. Amirahmadi,2017-09-08 War and revolution have focused the world s attention on the Middle East Despite the headlines the editors of this book state the economic political and cultural aspects of urban life in the Muslim world are hardly known to us Contributors to this volume explore urban problems urban development and the practice of urban planning in the Muslim world In both comprehensive analyses and detailed case studies the contributors address the basic dilemma of development planning how to integrate the force of tradition with the demands of modernity Specifically some of the topics covered include the examination of the idea of a uniquely Islamic city the influence of Islam on the medinas of Tunisia and Morocco and on the development of Mecca and Delhi and reconciling tradition and modernism in Tehran Also covered are the comparative development of Sana a and Cairo the influence of oil on urbanization in the Persian Gulf urban growth in Syria and an overview of urban planning in the Arab world This compendium is essential for specialists and students of the region for international planning and development practitioners and for those seeking insight into the complexities of this important but arguably least understood region of the world Urbanization in the Middle East A. G. Samaan,1976 Routledge

Handbook on Middle East Cities Haim Yacobi,Mansour Nasasra,2019-07-01 Presenting the current debate about cities in the Middle East from Sana a Beirut and Jerusalem to Cairo Marrakesh and Gaza the book explores urban planning and policy migration gender and identity as well as politics and economics of urban settings in the region This handbook moves beyond essentialist and reductive analyses of identity urban politics planning and development in cities in the Middle East and instead offers critical engagement with both historical and contemporary urban processes in the region Approaching Cities as multi dimensional sites products of political processes knowledge production and exchange and local and global visions as well as spatial artefacts Importantly in the different case studies and theoretical approaches there is no attempt to idealise urban politics planning and everyday life in the Middle East which as with many other cities elsewhere are also situations of contestation and violence but rather to highlight how cities in the region and especially those which are understudied revolve around issues of housing infrastructure participation and identity amongst other concerns Analysing a variety of cities in the Middle East the book is a significant contribution to Middle East Studies It is an essential resource for students and academics interested in Geography Regional and Urban Studies of the Middle East Middle Eastern Cities in Comparative Perspective Kenneth Brown,Kenneth L. Brown,1986 Popular Housing and Urban Land Tenure in the Middle East Myriam Ababsa,Baudouin Dupret,Eric Denis,2012 This book describes two major transformations that have been observed in the Middle East during the last thirty years first the accelerated changes in public policies toward neighbourhoods characterized as irregular or illegal and second the claim that this form of housing in urban areas is the norm Middle Eastern Cities

Garretson,1974 This thesis traces aspects of the political economic and religious history of Addis Ababa from 1886 to 1910 It is based largely on documentary material both Ethiopian and European but also depends on oral information As a city it was unique in Africa because of the absence of an imposed European direction of its development and as a result it grew ad hoc influenced by both Ethiopian and foreign concepts of an urban community From the beginnings Emperor Menilek completely dominated the political and administrative machinery of the capital but during his illnesses many of his responsibilities were perforce delegated to his closest associates who exercised their powers largely through the organisation of the Imperial Palace The bureaucracy became increasingly civilian in its personnel rather than military especially after the Battle of Adwa Furthermore since Addis Ababa was also the capital of the empire the city and its administrators played not only a local but also an imperial role The economic influence of the capital was even more pronounced where again the Emperor was more important than any other individual in the land and under his watchful eye foreigners dominated the import and export trade while Christians wrested the overall control of trade in the Empire from the Muslims Yet evangelically the church was rarely very energetic in the capital although its influence was pervasive While many historians have seen Menilek s reign as a period of significant innovation and modernisation this thesis regards that as an exaggerated claim For when closely examined the modernisation of even the capital was never very impressive although it was the acknowledged centre of foreign influence Nonetheless the capital did show itself to be the main point for the diffusion of the few modernisations that were introduced into the country from the 1880s to 1910
