

The background of the cover is a photograph of a tropical beach. In the foreground, a large palm tree leans from the right towards the center. The sand is light-colored with some footprints. In the distance, the ocean meets a sky with dramatic, colorful clouds in shades of orange, red, and grey, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall mood is mysterious and atmospheric.

In the last days of World War II a new and baffling weapon terrorized the United States Navy in the Pacific. To the sailors who learned to fear them, the body crashing warriors of Japan were known as suiciders among the Japanese they were named for a divine wind that once saved the home islands from invasion. Told from the perspective of the men who endured this horrifying tactic, At War with the Wind is the first book to recount in nail biting detail what it was like to experience an attack by Japanese kamikazes. Acclaimed author David Sears draws on personal interviews and unprecedented research to create a narrative of war that is stunning in its vividness and unforgettable in its revelations. This is the candid story of a war within a war, a relentless series of furious and violent engagements pitting men determined to die against men determined to live. Its echoes resonate hauntingly at a time of global conflict, especially when suicide as a weapon remains a perplexing and terrifying reality. Main Selection of the Military Book Club.
