

THYROID DISORDERS

What is the Thyroid?

The thyroid is a small gland that is wrapped around the windpipe (trachea) and below the larynx (voice box). The thyroid gland sits just below the larynx. It makes hormones that regulate the normal function of many organs and tissues. It also controls how the body uses and stores energy.

When the thyroid is not working properly, called thyroid disorders, it can cause:

- Weight gain
- Weight loss
- Fatigue
- Nervousness
- Irritability
- Depression
- Anxiety
- Hair loss
- Heart problems
- Muscle weakness
- Menstrual changes

Normal Hormone Production

The thyroid gland is controlled by the pituitary gland. When the level of thyroid hormones (T4 and T3) drops, the pituitary gland sends a signal to the hypothalamus. The hypothalamus then sends a signal to the pituitary gland to produce more thyroid-stimulating hormone (TSH). TSH tells the thyroid gland to produce more T4 and T3.

How to Check Your Thyroid

Ask your doctor about the best way to check your thyroid. There are several ways to check your thyroid.

1. While looking in a mirror, look at the area of your neck just below the Adam's apple. This is where you will find your thyroid.

2. Tip your head back, while looking at the thyroid gland in the mirror.

3. Place a stethoscope over your neck and listen for any change in the rate while you breathe.
