Torture Zone:

The Grey Zone Mark Lattimer, Philippe Sands, 2018-07-26 The high civilian death toll in modern protracted conflicts such as those in Syria or Iraq indicate the limits of international law in offering protections to civilians at risk A recent conference of states convened by the International Committee of the Red Cross referred to an institutional vacuum in the area of international humanitarian law implementation Yet both international humanitarian law and the law of human rights establish a series of rights intended to protect civilians But which law or laws apply in a particular situation and what are the obstacles to their implementation How can the law offer greater protections to civilians caught up in new methods of warfare such as drone strikes or targeted by new forms of military organisation such as transnational armed groups Can the implementation gap be filled by the growing use of human rights courts to remedy violations of the laws of armed conflict or are new instruments or mechanisms of civilian legal protection needed This volume brings together contributions from leading academic authorities and legal practitioners on the situation of civilians in the grey zone between human rights and the laws of war The chapters in Part 1 address key contested or boundary issues in defining the rights of civilians or non combatants in today s conflicts Those in Part 2 examine remedies and current mechanisms for redress both at the international and national level and those in Part 3 assess prospects for the development of new mechanisms for addressing violations As military intervention to protect civilians remains contested this volume looks at the potential for developing alternative approaches to the protection of civilians and their rights The Slavs of the War Zone William Frederick Bailey, 1917 Surviving the International War Zone Robert R. Rail, 2010-10-27 Few people are better able to describe how to survive in a war zone than those who have seen experienced and lived it firsthand Presenting accounts written by military and police officers this book offers an inside look at the lives of the officers and the local people living in the war zone environment Covering many facets of daily life the book examines topics such as surviving extreme temperatures and staying healthy interacting with the indigenous population and cultural awareness adjusting to the challenges of limited technology and resources and protecting oneself from the imminent threat of violence that is present in all war torn regions
