Time Passages 1943 Champlain Graphics,1999-06-01 Everyone has a special year whether it be the year they were born or the year when a special event took place that affected their lives Time Passages has created a book for each year from 1940 to 1998 listing in chronological calendar format events which occurred during that year Sports politics world events TV movies pricing fashion and nostalgia are all documented in full color Containing America Nathan Abrams,Julie

Hughes,2000-01-01 The postwar period in America witnessed a tremendous consumer boom that introduced thousands of new items into the mass market The contributors to Containing America challenge our conceptions of Cold War culture by examining a range of such products clothes food television magazines radio and other forms of entertainment in order to shed light on how Cold War discourses actually influenced the practices of ordinary behaviour Their essays address very different sectors of American society in terms of race class ethnicity sexuality and gender thus emphasising the multiplicity diversity and differing nature of the voices that emerged in cultural production and consumption during the 1950s Containing America points out directions for further research and provides a fresh approach for scholars students and others interested in the culture of the Cold War of the 1950s The World War II Bond Campaign Lawrence R.

Samuel,2025-02-04 How America s greatest marketing triumph in World War II shaped race ethnicity and class in modern America The World War II Bond Campaign is a history of the World War II bond drive led by the federal government an effort called the most successful marketing operation in history By the war s end some 85 million Americans had spent 186 billion in an unprecedented outpouring of patriotism that contributed to the military victory and the prosperity of the following decades The FDR administration used bonds to raise capital to support the war and promote national unity within the context of the nation s increasingly pluralistic society as the melting pot theory was retired African Americans Euro Americans and labor union members enthusiastically bought bonds to express national loyalty but also to demonstrate racial ethnic or class pride a reflection of their dualistic or hyphenated identities Drawing on various primary sources The World War II Bond Campaign illustrates how the Treasury Department s multicultural marketing strategies tapped into Americans aspirations alongside their patriotic impulses Citizens of all social and economic backgrounds eagerly responded to what can be seen as the selling of America making the subject an ideal lens to view national identity at a critical moment in the country s history The author contends that the drive s success helped pave the way for the emergence of both the civil rights movement and the vigorous consumer culture of the postwar years Visions of Belonging Judith E. Smith,2004-09-01 Visions of Belonging explores how beloved and still remembered family stories A Tree Grows in Brooklyn I Remember Mama Gentleman s Agreement Death of a Salesman Marty and A Raisin in the Sun entered the popular imagination and shaped collective dreams in the postwar years and into the 1950s These stories helped define widely shared conceptions of who counted as representative Americans and who could be recognized as belonging The book listens in as white and black authors and directors readers and viewers reveal divergent emotionally textured and politically charged social visions Their diverse perspectives provide a point of entry into an extraordinary time when the possibilities for social transformation seemed boundless But changes were also fiercely contested especially as the war s culture of unity receded in the resurgence of cold war anticommunism and demands for racial equality were met with intensifying white resistance Judith E Smith traces the cultural trajectory of these family stories as they circulated widely in bestselling paperbacks hit movies and popular drama on stage radio and television Visions of Belonging provides unusually close access to a vibrant conversation among white and black Americans about the boundaries between public life and family matters and the meanings of race and ethnicity Would the new appearance of white working class ethnic characters expand Americans understanding of democracy Would these stories challenge the color line How could these stories simultaneously show that black families belonged to the larger family of the nation while also representing the forms of danger and discriminations that excluded them from full citizenship In the 1940s war driven challenges to racial and ethnic borderlines encouraged hesitant trespass against older notions of normal But by the end of the 1950s the cold war cultural atmosphere discouraged probing of racial and social inequality and ultimately turned family stories into a comforting retreat from politics The book crosses disciplinary boundaries suggesting a novel method for cultural history by probing the social history of literary dramatic and cinematic texts Smith s innovative use of archival research sets authorial intent next to audience reception to show how both contribute to shaping the contested meanings of American belonging
