Vivid Language Writer As Reader Reader As Writer:

Vivid Language Paul Lee Thomas, 2001 Vivid Language is a writing text designed with two distinct sections The first section is a brief writing text one that reveals to students the many open ended nuances of language use At the center of the text section is the Golden Rule of Writing No rules exist in writing only guidelines But writers must have control of all that they choose to apply and must make each choice with a purpose that aids in the creation of meaning for the reader Anything a writer applies for effect and with purpose is acceptable Even fragments The second section is a reference section that includes approximately fifty numbered areas that teachers use while marking essays and that students refer to while rewriting their essays The second section the Revision Appendix is filled with examples taken from the author s own students it is the heart of the text and a system that should develop students abilities to be their own editors The Reference Appendix avoids grammar jargon and guides the students to be effective decision makers as they write The text is designed for use in high school and freshman composition courses at the college level

Reading, Writing, and Thinking Paul L. Thomas, Joe Kincheloe, 2006-01-01 In a world gone mad with standardized curricula and the degradation of the profession of teaching P L Thomas and Joe Kincheloe attempt to bring sanity back to the discussion of the teaching of some of the basic features of the educational process In Reading Writing and Thinking The Postformal Basics the authors take on the rational irrationality of current imperial pedagogical practices providing readers with provocative insights into the bizarre assumptions surrounding the contemporary teaching of reading writing and thinking The authors are obsessed with producing an accessible book for multiple audiences parents teachers scholars of education that moves beyond critique to a new domain of the social and educational imagination Readers of Thomas and Kincheloe s book embark on a mind trip beginning with what is and moving to the realm of what could be In this context they introduce readers to a critical theory of thinking postformalism that moves the social and educational conversation to a new terrain of individual and social consciousness Tired of the same educational policies and solutions in the teaching of reading writing and thinking the authors become socio psychic explorers who move readers past the boundaries of contemporary pedagogical perception
