Later races were undertaken and donations were made to the Myelin Project made famous by Augusto Odone and detailed in the film Lorenzo's Oil. However, nothing could alter her sister's fate and when Maureen died, the author stepped off the music tracks and lost herself completely in the dark maze of grief. Within four months, her aunt died and then her father. Shortly afterwards, during a 500-mile trek to Santiago de Compostela, commonly known as The Camino, as she was attempting to walk into oblivion, she experienced the astounding power of music to transcend her grief and re-connect her with her sister and her own life. When her brother-in-law and her mother died just four years later, the author embarked on her second Camino and was provided with yet more proof of the healing power of music and its positive affirmation of life. The story is peppered with music tracks and these are listed at the end together with mention of some of music's other therapeutic effects.

Beginning with prehumans running down prey, this book describes how ancient, medieval, and modern runners have come to run ever faster. Writers of antiquity left few detailed accounts of running, but in the early 1800s, detailed accounts of running feats and matches appeared in newspapers, journals, and books. Nineteenth-century pioneers like George Seward, Harry Hutchens, Walter George, and Bernie Wefers are here given long-deserved recognition. The six-day "Go as You Please" races of the 1870s and 1880s, featuring running's first great female performer, Amy Howard, are discussed. Twentieth-century luminaries Helen Stephens, Jesse Owens, Paavo Nurmi, Emil Zatopek, Bob Hayes, Abebe Bikila, and Joan Benoit Samuelson are included along with the Bunion Derby races of 1928-1929. New material for this revised and expanded second edition includes coverage of the 1970s running boom, women's marathon pioneers, the impact of drugs on running, and the feats of 21st-century runners such as Usain Bolt, Paula Radcliffe, and Haile Gebrselassie.
