William Isaac Fletcher (1844-1917, ed)

Walkabout 35 Science:

Shaping Science and Industry CB Schedvin, 1987-01-01 Shaping Science and Industry touches on Australia's intellectual political and economic life. It provides an account of the rapid growth of CSIR to become CSIRO during World War II. The contributions of many outstanding personalities are described such as Sir George Julius Sir Charles Martin Hedley Marston DF Martyn AEV Richardson Sir David Rivett Ian Clunies Ross and FWG White. This book recounts the major effort to introduce and adapt new technologies as part of the war effort. Informative and non-technical accounts are given of some breakthroughs in agricultural research such as the eradication of prickly pear. Australian Science Index, 1973

Pinpointer, 1973 Earth Sciences Amy Bain, Janet Richer, Janet Weckman, 2001-05-15 Everything you need to create exciting thematic science units can be found in these handy guides. Developed for educators who want to take an integrated approach, these teaching kits contain resource lists, reading selections, and activities that can be easily pulled together for units on virtually any science topic. Arranged by subject, each book lists key scientific concepts for primary, intermediate, and upper-level learners and links them to specific chapters where resources for teaching those concepts appear. Chapters identify and describe comprehensive teaching resources: nonfiction and related fiction, reading selections, then detail hands-on science and extension activities that help students learn the scientific method and build learning across the curriculum. A final section helps you locate helpful experiment books and appropriate journals, Web sites, agencies, and related organizations.

To Walk About in Freedom Carole Emberton, 2022-03-08 The extraordinary life of Priscilla Joyner and her quest along with other formerly enslaved people to define freedom after the Civil War. Priscilla Joyner was born into the world of slavery in 1858, North Carolina, and came of age at the dawn of emancipation. Raised by a white slaveholding woman, Joyner never knew the truth about her parentage. She grew up isolated and unsure of who she was and where she belonged. Feelings that no emancipation proclamation could assuage. Her life story candidly recounted in an oral history for the Federal Writers Project captures the intimate nature of freedom. Using Joyner's interview and the interviews of other formerly enslaved people, historian Carole Emberton uncovers the deeply personal, emotional journeys of freedom's charter generation: the people born into slavery who walked into a new world of freedom during the Civil War. From the seemingly mundane to the most vital, emancipation opened up a myriad of new possibilities: what to wear and where to live, what jobs to take and who to love. Although Joyner was educated at a Freedmen's Bureau school and married a man she loved, slavery cast a long shadow. Uncertainty about her parentage haunted her life, and as Jim Crow took hold throughout the South, segregation, disfranchisement, and racial violence threatened the loving home she made for her family. But through it all, she found beauty in the world and added to it where she could. Weaving together illuminating voices from the charter generation, To Walk About in Freedom gives us a kaleidoscopic look at the lived experiences of emancipation and challenges us to think anew about the consequences of failing to reckon with the afterlife of slavery.
