Yacoubian Building:

the yacoubian building 'Alā' Aswānī, 2004 The Yacoubian Building holds all that Egypt was and has become over the 75 years since its namesake was built on one of downtown Cairo's main boulevards. From the pious son of the building's doorkeeper and the raucous impoverished squatters on its roof via the tattered aristocrat and the gay intellectual in its apartments to the ruthless businessman whose stores occupy its ground floor, each sharply etched character embodies a facet of modern Egypt where political corruption, ill-gotten wealth, and religious hypocrisy are natural allies, where the arrogance and defensiveness of the powerful find expression in the exploitation of the weak, where youthful idealism can turn quickly to extremism, and where an older, less violent vision of society may yet prevail. Alaa Al Aswany's novel caused an unprecedented stir when it was first published in 2002 and has remained the world's best-selling novel in the Arabic language since.

The Yacoubian building, Samia Mehrez, 2010-01-01 A look at some of the raging debates in the arts in Egypt.

Alaa Alaswany, 2006, Conscience of the Nation Richard Jacquemond, 2008 Artfully combining social and literary history, this unique study explores the dual loyalties of contemporary Egyptian authors from the 1952 Revolution to the present day. Egypt's writers have long had an elevated idea of their social mission, considering themselves the conscience of the nation. At the same time, modern Egyptian writers work under the liberal conception of the writer borrowed from the European model. As a result, each Egyptian writer treads the tightrope between authority and freedom, social commitment and artistic license, loyalty to the state and to personal expression in an ongoing quest for an elusive literary ideal. With these fundamentals in mind, Conscience of the Nation examines Egyptian literary production over the past fifty years, surveying works by established writers as well as those of dozens of other authors who are celebrated in Egypt but whose writings are largely unknown to the foreign reader. Novelists and poets, scriptwriters and playwrights, critics and journalists all have battled with and tried to resolve the tensions inherent in the conflicting forces of self and society.

The Yacoubian Building Alaa Al Aswany, 2009-03-17 August Book Sense Pick A fading aristocrat and self-proclaimed scientist of women. A purring voluptuous siren. A young shop girl enduring the clammy touch of her boss and hating herself for accepting the modest banknotes he tucks into her pocket afterward. An earnest devout young doorman feeling the irresistible pull toward fundamentalism. A cynical secretly gay newspaper editor helplessly in love with a peasant security guard. A roof-squatting tailor scheming to own property. A corrupt and corpulent politician twisting the Koran to justify taking a mistress. All live in the Yacoubian Building, a once elegant temple of Art Deco splendor slowly decaying in the smog and hubbub of downtown Cairo, Egypt. In the course of this unforgettable novel, these disparate lives converge, careening inexorably toward an explosive conclusion. Tragicomic, passionate, shockingly frank in its sexuality and brimming with an extraordinary embracing human compassion, The Yacoubian Building is a literary achievement of the first order.

The Humanities and the Dynamics of African Culture in the 21st Century John Ayotunde Isola Bewaji, Kenneth W. Harrow, Eunice E.

Omonzejie,2017-05-11 That Africa is at a crossroads in an increasingly globalised world is indisputable Equally unassailable is the fact that the humanities as a broad field of intellection research and learning in Africa appears to have been pigeonholed in debates of relevance in the development aspirations of many African nations Historical experiences and contemporary research outputs indicate however that the humanities in its various shades is critical to Africa s capacity to respond effectively to such problems as security corruption political ineptitude poverty superstition and HIV AIDS among many other mounting challenges which confront the people of Africa The vibrancy and resilience of Africa s cultures against these and other odds of globalisation episodes in the course of our history demand the focused attention of academia to exploit their relevance to contemporary issues This collection provides a comprehensive overview of issues in the humanities at the turn of the 21st century which create a veritable platform for the global redefinition and understanding of Africa s rich cultures and traditions Such areas covered include ruminations in metaphysics and psychology pathos and ethos cinematic and literary connections and historical conceptualisations

Pike,Sapana Doshi,2023-04-15 Winner of the Anthony Leeds Prize in Urban Anthropology by the American Anthropological Association Corruption Plots illuminates how corruption is fundamental to global storytelling about how states and elites abuse entrusted power in late capitalism The millennial city of the global South is a charged setting for allegations of corruption with skyscrapers land grabs and slum evictions invoking outrage at deepening economic polarization Drawing on ethnography in Bengaluru and Mumbai and a cross section of literary and cinematic stories from cities around the world Malini Ranganathan David L Pike and Sapana Doshi pay close attention to the racial caste class and gender locations of the narrators spaces and publics imagined to be harmed by corruption Corruption Plots demonstrates how corruption talk is leveraged to make sense of unequal spatial change and used opportunistically by those who are themselves implicated in wrongdoing Offering a wide ranging analysis of urban worlds the authors reveal the ethical spatial and political stakes of storytelling and how vital it is to examine the corruption plot in all its contradictions

Postcolonial Audiences Bethan Benwell, James Procter, Gemma Robinson, 2012-03-12 Without readers and audiences viewers and consumers the postcolonial would be literally unthinkable And yet postcolonial critics have historically neglected the modes of reception and consumption that make up the politics and pleasures of meaning making during and after empire Thus while recent criticism and theory has made large claims for reading as an ethical act as a means of establishing collective quasi political consciousness as identification with difference as a mode of resistance and as an impulsion to the public imagination the reader in postcolonial literary studies persists as a shadowy figure This collection answers the now pressing need for a distinctively postcolonial take on the rapidly expanding area of reader and reception studies Written by some of the top scholars in the field these essays reveal readers and reception to be varied and profoundly unstable subjects that challenge many of our assumptions and preconceptions of the postcolonial from the notion of reading as national fellowship to the demands of an ethics of reading
