

Dodd-Frank Act replacement clears first hurdle

The Financial CHOICE Act, the long awaited legislation that will repeal and replace the Dodd-Frank Act, is set to be considered by the House of Representatives in the coming weeks.

House financial services committee chairman Jeb Hensarling officially introduced the act in April, but a series of Democratic amendments and other delays were raised before the final vote was taken.

Speaking on the act's journey through Capitol Hill, law firm Arnold & Porter Kaye Scholer noted in a blogpost that "the markup session was a clearly partisan affair that is indicative of the bill's uncertain future in the closely divided Senate". The replacement legislation promises to radically re-write several key aspects of Dodd-Frank, and scrap the rest.

Among the casualties will likely be the Federal Insurance Office (FIO), which was mandated under Dodd-Frank to monitor the insurance industry, assist in administering the terrorism risk insurance programme, and coordinate federal involvement and policy making on international insurance matters and negotiations.
