The Trade-off Between Collector Area, Storage Volume, and Building Conservation in Annual Storage Solar Heating Systems Sanford Sillman, 1981 The objective was to develop a comprehensive understanding of the performance of active solar heating systems with intermediate and annual cycle storage A daily step computer simulation was used to determine the performance of solar heating systems as collector and storage size was varied Simulations were performed for systems in four cities in the U S Boston MA Medford OR Bismarck ND and Albuquerque NM The study assumed various building load types and includes both flat plate and evacuated tube collectors at different tilt angles and single tank and two tank systems A unique feature of this study was the investigation of systems used to provide backup heat for passive solar and energy conserving buildings and to meet standard building loads Advances in Solar Energy Technology H.P. Garg, 1987-01-31 The main objective of writing the three volume Advances in Solar Energy Technology is to consolidate all the relevant latest information available in the field of solar energy applied and theoretical in nature and to assist both the students i e undergraduate postgraduate research scholars etc and the professionals i e consulting design and contracting firms I have discussed each and every topic in depth rather than a cursory overview All the material required on a particular topic is included in the chapter and I have wherever possible given useful relationships in equation graphical and tabular form It is hoped that this completed Solar Energy Technology will serve the best source material in this field The first chapter deals with the evacuated tubular collectors suitable to operate at a temperature of about 150 C with a daily energy collector efficiency in excess of 40 per cent These collectors thus would be useful for efficient operation of Solar Airconditioning System Power Generation and Process Heat System Various advanced features like vacuum insulation selective black coating anti reflective coating heat pipe cusp reflector etc used in designing this advanced type of collector are discussed separately in this chapter Transient mathematical model for its performance prediction and different designs of evacuated tubular collectors commercially produced in different countries of the world are described in brief to give the reader a good picture about their scope and working Energy Research Abstracts , 1981-03 Energy , 1980 Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports , 1982-07 Energy: a Continuing Bibliography with Indexes , 1980 New Technical Books New York Public Library, 1983 Advances in Solar Energy Technology H.P.
