of Graham Greene: 1955-1991 Norman Sherry, 2005 Twenty seven years in the making Norman Sherry's magisterial biography of Graham Greene captures the life and character of one of the twentieth century's most important literary figures. The final eagerly anticipated volume follows Greene still an agent for the British government from pre Revolutionary Cuba and the Belgian Congo to adulterous interludes in Capri and Antibes. Based on unparalleled access to letters, diaries and Greene himself, this book gives us the writer at the height of his fame in the company of such literary luminaries as T. S. Eliot, Evelyn Waugh, Ian Fleming and Ernest Hemingway. With insight and eloquence, Sherry reveals Greene's obsessions, feelings and craft, bringing to a close what Margaret Atwood has called the definitive biography. A.J. Ayer Ben Rogers, 2000 Freddie Ayer 1910-89 was one of the most influential philosophers of his generation while his television and radio appearances made him Britain's first media philosopher. Ben Rogers relates Ayer's ideas to his remarkable life, strangely troubled beneath its glamorous surface. A friend of Isaiah Berlin and a follower first of Bertrand Russell and then of Wittgenstein, Ayer won fame at 24 with his brilliantly iconoclastic LANGUAGE, TRUTH AND LOGIC, an essential text for students ever since. Rogers shows Ayer at work and also at play as a passionate follower of cricket and football, a great dancer, a lover of witty conversation and beautiful women. Married four times, Ayer was a leading figure in London cafe society yet he was also a controversial public figure and broadcaster, vehemently left wing in the 1930s and later President of the British Humanist Association and the Homosexual Law Reform Society. Colourful, intimate, zestful and often poignant, this is a powerful biography of a provocative cosmopolitan thinker and an intriguing multi-faceted character. Classical Translations H. A. S. Hartley, 1889
