Catastrophic Technology in Cold War Political Thought Caroline Ashcroft,2024-11-30 In the mid twentieth century a certain idea of technology emerged in the work of many influential political theorists a critical catastrophic concept of technology entangled with the apocalyptic fears fuelled by two all consuming world wars and the looming nuclear threat Drawing on the work of theorists such as Hannah Arendt Jacques Ellul Martin Heidegger and Herbert Marcuse Catastrophic Technology in Cold War Political Thought explores the critical idea of technology as both a response to a dramatically changing world and a radical political critique of Cold War liberalism

Anatomies of Modern Discontent Thomas S. Henricks,2022-03-03 This book provides an overview and analysis of the thought of figures across the human and social sciences on the character causes and consequences of discontent in modern societies Exploring the important social and cultural conditions associated with modernity it focuses on the contributions of 38 prominent scholars from the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries philosophers historians and social scientists on the subject of discontent and social malaise and individual and collective well being Thematically organized this volume offers brief portraits of the lives and key ideas of these thinkers leading toward a presentation of modernity as a differentiated complaint Reclaiming an important tradition in the human and social sciences that sees life on a grand scale that integrates personal affairs with social and cultural matters and that dares people to recommit themselves to this broader vision of human involvement Anatomies of Modern Discontent will appeal to readers across the social sciences and humanities particularly those with interests in social theory sociology and philosophy

No More War Dan Kovalik,2020-04-14 Kovalik helps cut through the Orwellian lies and dissembling which make so called humanitarian intervention possible Oliver Stone War is the fount of all the worst human rights violations including genocide and not its cure This undeniable truth which the framers of the UN Charter understood so well is lost in today s obsession with the oxymoron known as humanitarian intervention No More War How the West Violates International Law by Using Humanitarian Intervention to Advance Economic and Strategic Interests sets out to reclaim the original intent of the Charter founders to end the scourge of war on the heels of the devastation wrought by WWII The book begins with a short history of the West's development as built upon the mass plunder of the Global South, genocide and slavery and challenges the prevailing notion that the West is uniquely poised to enforce human rights through force. This book also goes through recent humanitarian interventions carried out by the Western powers against poorer nations, e.g. in the DRC, Congo, and Iraq, and shows how these have only created greater human rights problems, including genocide, than they purported to stop or prevent. No More War reminds the reader of the key lessons of Nuremberg: that war is the primary scourge of the world, the root of all the evils which international law seeks to prevent and eradicate, and which must be prevented. The reader is then taken through the UN Charter and other human rights instruments and their emphasis on the prevention of aggressive war.

Riding the New York Subway Stefan Hohne, 2021-02-16 A history of New York subway passengers as they navigated the system's constraints while striving for individuality or at least a smooth ride. When the subway first opened with much fanfare on October 27, 1904, New York became a city of underground passengers almost overnight. In this book, Stefan Hohne examines how the experiences of subway passengers in New York City were intertwined with cultural changes in urban mass society throughout the twentieth century. Hohne argues that underground transportation, which early passengers found both exhilarating and distressing, changed perceptions, interactions, and the organization of everyday life.

Does Technology Drive History? Merritt Roe Smith, Leo Marx, 1994-06-02 These thirteen essays explore a crucial historical question that has been notoriously hard to pin down: To what extent and by what means does a society's technology determine its political, social, economic, and cultural forms? These thirteen essays explore a crucial historical question that has been notoriously hard to pin down: To what extent and by what means does a society's technology determine its political, social, economic, and cultural forms? Karl Marx launched the modern debate on determinism with his provocative remark that the hand mill gives you society with the feudal lord, the steam mill society with the industrial capitalist, and a classic article by Robert Heilbroner, reprinted here, renewed the debate within the context of the history of technology. This book clarifies the debate and carries it forward. Marx's position has become embedded in our culture in the form of constant reminders as to how our fast-changing technologies will alter our lives. Yet historians who have looked closely at where technologies really come from generally support the proposition that technologies are not autonomous but are social products susceptible to democratic controls. The issue is crucial for democratic theory. These essays tackle it head-on, offering a deep look at all the shadings of determinism and assessing determinist models in a wide variety of historical contexts. Contributors: Bruce Bimber, Richard W. Bulliet, Robert L. Heilbroner, Thomas P. Hughes, Leo Marx, Thomas J. Misa, Peter C. Perdue, Philip Scranton, Merritt Roe Smith, Michael L. Smith, John M. Staudenmaier, Rosalind Williams.

When We Are Human John Zerzan, 2021-07-13 These are dark and darkening times challenging us to look deeper to grasp the roots and dynamics of the looming civilizational crisis. Chronic illness of the planet calls for radically new thinking if there is to be any hope of renewal When We Are Human offers thought at a necessary and primal level All previous civilizations have failed and now there s just one global civilization which is starkly grandly failing To deny or avoid this fact is to remain in the sphere of the superficial the irrelevant The physical environment is reaching the catastrophe stage as the seas warm rise acidify and fill with plastics Icebergs ahead and floating past beachgoers idly watching the planet die So much is failing so much is interrelated in the technosphere of ever greater dependence and estrangement Social existence now strangely isolated is beset by mass shootings rising suicide rates slipping longevity loneliness anxiety and the maddening stream of lies and concocted politics Zerzan trains his passionate focus on several fields of discourse anthropology history philosophy technology psychology and the spiritual Points of light that become a kaleidoscope refracting new insights and contributing an overall picture of late civilization American Studies ,1974 Delusive Spaces Eric Kluitenberg,2008 In Delusive Spaces Eric Kluitenberg takes a critical position that retains a utopian potential for emerging media cultures The book investigates the archaeology of media and machine mapping the different methods and metaphors used to speak about technology Returning to the present Kluitenberg discusses the cultural use of new media in an age of post governmental politics Delusive Spaces concludes with the impossibility of representation Going beyond the obvious delusions of the new and the free Kluitenberg theorizes artistic practices and European cultural policies demonstrating a provocative engagement with the utopian dimension of technology
