House of Lords,1990 Includes lists of orders rules bills etc Gendering European Working Time Regimes Ania Zbyszewska,2016-08-04 Ania Zbyszewska s feminist socio legal study of the European working time regime examines its historical development and influence in the Polish working time reform focusing on the gendered dynamics and the relationship between the EU and national politics and law This study will be of interest to legal and feminist scholars and policy makers Labour Relations in Central Europe Dr Jochen Tholen, 2012-10-01 Since 1990 foreign direct investment FDI has quickened economic modernization in Central Europe State of the art management techniques and cutting edge technology have been introduced in many cases Labour Relations is an essential factor in the organization of labour and production At the start of the process industrial relations were characterized by the conditions existing under the previous planned economies or as with greenfield investments had to be entirely reconfigured In the case of investments by West European companies this book reveals various emerging models of industrial relations but also a clear tendency towards company centralization For the time being the European Works Council still plays a subordinate role despite its potential fundamental role as mediator between East and West Empirically nine corporations from the metal automotive industry the chemical energy and food processing industries with their subsidiaries in Poland Czech Republic and Slovakia are considered

The Influence of Business Associations in the European Decision Making Process Uli Bethke, 2006-01-20 Inhaltsangabe Abstract Since the adoption of the Single European Act SEA in 1986 more and more competencies have been transferred by EU Member States to decision makers in Brussels Beside the objective of the completion of the Single Market the scope of Community policies has widened to political co operation technological development and social policy In addition the powers of the European Parliament were strengthened and qualified majority voting was introduced for decisions related to the completion of the internal market Since the summits of Maastricht and Amsterdam European integration has further gained in momentum National governments again handed over sovereignty to the European level Jacques Delors famous quote that 80% of regulations impacting on the economic sphere were decided in Brussels today demonstrates the shift of competency Within the last 15 years Brussels has become an important centre of power This transference of power to the European level also has affected the behaviour of interest groups Before 1986 it usually was sufficient to lobby the own national administration in order to influence regulations The main function of European peak organisations at the time was on the one hand to monitor events in Brussels and report them back to their member federations on the other hand they formed a transnational network for the exchange of information The growing power of European institutions and the strengthening of the supranational element within the European Union required interest groups to broaden their participation in the European decision making process In addition the technical problems regarding the realisation of the internal market e g harmonisation of services standardisation of products etc has triggered off an enormous demand for technical input on the side of the European institutions Since the adoption of the SEA thus interest groups have proliferated New groups with new interests have emerged Long established organisations have increased their financial and personnel resources After Washington D C Brussels has become the second biggest boomtown for lobbying activities In 1992 the Commission has estimated that approximately 3000 special interest groups with a total of 10 000 lobbyists try to influence the institutions of the European Union The directory of interest groups lists 891 European peak organisations Beside these Eurogroups a myriad form of actors all trying to get

A Creeping Transformation? Michael W. Bauer,2013-03-14 How can we approach the Commission s role as co manager of policy implementation Why should we expect the Commission to be pulled into domestic policy execution and to accumulate something like an implementation management capacity How should we conceptualise the Commission s linkage with post decision management issues Finally how does the Commission s involvement in the application of EU policies if any significantly change everything Such questions are answered in this study which is concerned with what may be called the implementation management capacity of the European Commission Simply put this is the role the Commission plays in the implementation of large scale European spending programmes While it is true that the Commission s predominant prerogatives are to draft legislation and facilitate bargaining it also has a role in post decision policy management This role is of increasing importance for the emerging governance of the European Union Readership social scientists journalists and all those interested in the role of the European Commission in shaping EU policies

EU Social Policy in the 1990s Gerda Falkner,2003-07-13 This book offers an analytical overview of schools of thought on European integration which offer useful insights into EU social politics Building on this framework the chapters then examine in detail pre Maastricht social policy and the social partners the innovations of the Treaty itself and where EU social policy stands at the end of the 1990s Case studies of European Works Councils parental leave and atypical work are included to highlight the day to day processes at work in social policy formation and the major interest groups and EU institutions involved This is an up to date and accessible study which finds the social policy making environment in the EU has become increasingly corporatist in the 1990s
