Rural Australia and the Great War John McQuilton,2013-05-09 In the cities and in the countryside of Australia the Great War of 1914 1918 marched to somewhat different tempos John McQuilton evokes the wartime experience of all rural Australians by capturing the moods of the country towns and hamlets of North Eastern Victoria Every aspect of the war recruiting fund raising and eventually homecoming and the design of the war memorial was marked by a mixture of small minded local politics heroism and sacrifice and grief Individuals whether journalists town councillors or leading local citizens shaped the recurring battles on the home front The conscription debates were particularly vicious as the countryside exhausted its pool of volunteers long before the cities In small communities the shirker could not hide everyone knew which families had sent men to the front and who had genuine reasons for staying home This intimacy worked in favour of the many German Australians country people knew them as trusted neighbours but in the cities they were reviled as enemy aliens Rural Australia and the Great War is unique among writing on the First World War in creating a richly detailed picture of wartime in a particular part of country Australia For country and city readers alike this is fascinating social history

The Man Who Lost Himself Robyn Annear,2011-12-16 When Tom Castro declared himself to be Roger the Tichborne heir and headed for London to claim his inheritance not even Roger s mother could tell them apart By 1871 he was the most notorious celebrity in Great Britain or Australia But who was he And what was his story

Rotifer Symposium VI John Gilbert,E. Lubzens,M.R. Miracle,2012-12-06 As in previous symposia some current research topics were selected for review and eight invited papers were presented For the first time a paper was presented on the historical aspects of Rotiferology covering European research between 1680 1950 A special workshop session was devoted to a debate on a controversial topic Rotifer Phylogeny The workshop resulted in a very successful discussion and the integration of scattered evidence and hypotheses on the phylogenetic origin of rotifers the relationships between major rotifer groups and the mechanisms of evolution
