Wolof Senegal:

Wolof Tijan M. Sallah, 1995-12-15 Examines the land life and history of the Wolof people of West Africa The Politics of National Languages in Postcolonial Senegal Ibrahima Diallo, 2010 Senegal claimed political independence from France in 1960 and Leopold Sédar Senghor became Senegal's first president Even though Senegal was no longer a French colony Senghor was determined to maintain the dominance of French culture and language in his country However pressure to give national languages more power and space which had already started during French occupation continued intensely after independence Senghor's political adversaries as well as teacher and student unions workers and various activist groups roundly criticized Senghor's government for the language and education programs he chose for the Senegalese people The issue of national languages thus became a major political issue in Senegal with a far reaching and longstanding impact This book is a comprehensive study on the current language policies and practices in Senegal It illuminates the tension that has arisen from the enduring colonial legacies and their influences in postcolonial language policies in Senegal It also highlights the need for vigorous policy change to recognize the Senegalese languages especially in education and how the preservation of these languages is critical to identity and culture issues The book shows that it is important for the Senegalese people to retain their original local languages and how French and English are not simply the only languages needed for Senegal's success in the globalized economy In addition to a detailed history with supporting facts and figures this study also links socioeconomic cultural and political events in its analysis of the unstoppable rise of Wolof which is posing a significant threat to the already fragile local linguistic ecology This book will be of interest to scholars in applied and social linguistics African studies and policy studies The Oral History and Literature of the Wolof People of Waalo, Northern Senegal Samba Diop, Papa Samba Diop, 1995 This work which springs from Senegalese and African oral cultures and traditions and is the work of an observer and writer from within Wolof culture provides insights to the fields of oral and comparative literature The epic tale contained in the manuscript The Epic Tale of the Waalo Kingdom was collected in the town of Rosso Senegal from the griot Siquan and the performance was recorded on videotape Notes to the performance text treat various details relating to Wolof culture and history Senegal Abroad Maya Angela Smith, 2019-03-05 Senegal Abroad explores the fascinating role of language in national transnational postcolonial racial and migrant identities Capturing the experiences of Senegalese in Paris Rome and New York it depicts how they make sense of who they are and how they fit into their communities countries and the larger global Senegalese diaspora Drawing on extensive interviews with a wide range of emigrants as well as people of Senegalese heritage Maya Angela Smith contends that they shape their identity as they purposefully switch between languages and structure their discourse The Senegalese are notable Smith suggests both in their capacity for movement and in their multifaceted approach to language She finds that although the emigrants she interviews express complicated relationships to the multiple languages they speak and the places they inhabit they also convey pleasure in both travel and language Offering a mix of poignant funny reflexive introspective and witty stories they blur the lines between the utility and pleasure of language allowing a more nuanced understanding of why and how Senegalese move
