Woman Marine:

Fight Like a Girl Kate Germano, Kelly Kennedy, 2018 A Marine Corps combat veteran with twenty years of service describes her professional battle against gender bias in the Marines and the lessons it holds for other arenas Marine Corps Lieutenant Colonel Kate Germano arrived at Parris Island convinced that if she expected more of the female recruits just coming into Corps she could raise historically low standards for female performance and make women better Marines One year after she took command of the Fourth Recruit Training Battalion shooting qualifications of the women under her command equaled those of men injuries had decreased and unit morale had noticeably improved Then the Marines fired her This is the story of Germano's struggle to achieve equality of performance and opportunity for female Marines against an entrenched male dominated status quo Germano charges that the men above her in the chain of command were too invested in perpetuating the subordinate role of women in the Corps to allow her to prove that the female Marine can be equal to her male counterpart She notes that the Marine Corps continues to be the only service where men and women train separately in boot camp or basic training Meanwhile in the U S Army women have already become Army Rangers and applied to be infantry officers Germano addresses the Marine Corps 35 million gender integration study which shows that all male squads perform at a higher level than mixed male female squads This study flies in the face of the results she demonstrated with the all female Fourth Battalion and raises questions about the Marine Corps willingness to let women succeed At a time when women are fighting sexism in many sectors of society Germano's story has wide ranging implications and lessons not just for the military but for corporate America the labor force education and government A History of the Women Marines, 1946-1977 Mary V. Cabrera,2013-11 Are you having difficulty finding information about females joining the Marine Corps That s because there isn t much out there from a female perspective Until now This book gives you an insight on what a woman should know before making the decision to be a United States Marine It explains what really goes on behind the scenes in boot camp the reality of fleet life for a woman and what she can expect as a female Marine It also points out the pitfalls to avoid and how to gain respect from fellow Marines Women in the Marines N. R. Rowan,1994 Describes the experiences of female recruits at the Parris Island Marine Corps Recruit Depot and discusses the role of and opportunities for women in the Marines Warrior Amber J. Cabrera,2013-12 Without a doubt it has been the longest and most exhausting day of my life I can barely keep my eyes open down to write this Already I fear I m breaking the rules being up after lights out but I must record this experience before I forget it My pre dawn morning began with my checking into MEPS MEPS is a military evaluation medical clinic where they examine every inch of you right down to your toenails to make sure that you meet the acceptable requirements before they put their seal of approval on you It s run a little better than a meatpacking plant You are one in a line of prospects making his her way down the assembly line of the US government For me my main concern was being able to weigh in within their guidelines I spent the last month at my recruiter s office working out with the Marines there to lose 20 pounds so I could enlist My time is divided amongst them either at the gym next door or on some concrete pavement running I m very grateful to them for all the effort they put in to help me when they clearly didn t have to Anyway once I ve been poked prodded and deemed acceptable to become property of the US government I was taken to a room with several others to be sworn in Raising your right hand and swearing to protect and defend your country is a surreal moment It s a bit stunning in the sense that you realize that little old you is important in this world after all That you are about to change the direction of your life and make a significant impact in contributing to the history just by being there We were loaded onto buses and shipped to the airport Since I was headed for Parris Island the only recruit training location for females I was going to land in South Carolina I was the only one going to Parris Island and everyone on the bus was surprised that I was going into the Marine Corps Guys and girls all commented that they couldn t do that and stated which branch they were headed for I was proud to be considered tough as well as the object of their awe Upon arriving to the airport terminal I was met by a Marine corporal the recruit depot liaison He informed me that we had a few others flying in and we would be waiting for them He took me to a room apparently used for this purpose as they had tables and chairs like a classroom What seemed like hours passed and little by little one person at a time would show up That s where I first met Walden She was a tall Kentuckian female who packed her no nonsense attitude with her She didn t say too much I imagine she was nervous like the rest of us I suppose I should explain that the process of getting to Parris Island doesn t usually happen this way However we were one of the last people that would be joining this training cycle and were therefore a couple of days behind everyone else Due to a spot opening up at the last minute I was able to go now instead of waiting until October So Walden and I were the only two females headed for the same place The others were males including Bolden who would as it turned out become a great friend and fellow student at the journalism school I was going to All day today I couldn t help but be excited despite the horror stories I had heard about the Marines and their training I guess I m supposed to be terrified but I m not I feel like my life is finally about to mean something Once all the prospects arrived we were loaded into a van for an hour s drive to Parris Island It was the middle of the night and after all the traveling I had done all day this last trip seem to take forever The corporal liaison was nice enough since there were only a few of us to stop at a gas station and let us get something to eat and drink Still I just couldn t wait to get here We finally made it to Parris Island As we approached the depot the corporal told us to put our heads down It was both nervous and very excited This was it

Hesitation Kills Jane Blair,2011-06-16 This riveting memoir is the first book written by a female Marine about the war in Iraq and one of the only books written by a woman who has experienced combat firsthand Deploying to Iraq in 2003 Jane Blair s aerial reconnaissance unit was assigned to travel ahead of and alongside combat units throughout the initial phase of Operation Iraqi Freedom Throughout her deployment Jane kept a journal of her and her fellow lieutenants combat experiences which she draws on to convey the immediacy of life in the military not just for a woman but for all Marines Jane s stories highlight the drama and chaos of wartime Iraq along with the day to day challenges every soldier faced from spicing up a pasta with alfredo sauce MRE to keeping the insidious sand at bay She also copes with a bullying superior officer while trying to connect with local civilians who have long been viewed as the enemy She recounts the struggles specific to women including being respected as a Marine rather than dismissed as the weaker sex and battling the prejudices of male soldiers who don t believe women belong in uniform And always she fights the personal loneliness of being separated from her husband balanced with the challenge and joy of stealing a private moment with him when his unit is close by Jane describes not only her experiences as a young lieutenant and as a woman but also those of her fellow Marines whom she lauds as the true heroes of her story Ultimately she learns from her commanding officer and her fellows in arms what it truly means to be a leader both in the military and in life Weaving her story together with the experiences of the ordinary people of Iraq this book offers compelling insights into the profound impact of the war on the lives of soldiers and civilians alike Her unforgettable narrative bridges the gap between those who have experienced the Iraq War firsthand and those in America who could only follow its life altering events from a distance The Leatherneck ,1963 *Women of ... ,1923 Corporal Cannon Savannah Cannon,2022-09-16 One woman s dramatic account of her stint in the U S Marine Corps exploring the prejudice and mistreatment of women in combat zones Not even old enough to drink Corporal Savannah Cannon is a young enlisted United States Marine deployed to support Operation Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan in 2010 As a tactical data networking specialist she is sent away from everyone she knows and attached to a Regimental Combat Team where women are not allowed to repair communications Her experiences over the next few months shed light on the unique and difficult positions women are placed in when supporting combat roles while offering a raw look at the painful choices women must sometimes make Cannon finds herself in a combat zone ostracized from family friends and even her fellow Marines as the men are told to avoid her The connections she makes are born from trauma and desperation and the choices she makes will echo throughout many lives Corporal Cannon is not the story of a heroine it is the hard hitting account of just one of the flawed individuals who make up the United States fighting forces Mistakes in the battlefield can have dire consequences personally and professionally Reflecting on her time in service the author weaves a story of past and present and the healing that can come with admitting our mistakes and moving past them Green and Dying Kat Sinclair,2018-05-17 Set in Washington D C Paris Island S C and Quantico VA this is the true story of a naive sheltered teenage girl who joins the Marines despite a warning from a Navy doctor that she is emotionally too young There follows the most intense years of her life learning about a homosexual sub culture lies longing suicide and loss There is also humor and friendship Meanwhile a war is heating up in a faraway place called Vietnam More Than a Woman a Woman Marine Karen Haynes,2015-11-30 Inspiration of this book came to me while I was serving on Recruiting Duty in Shreveport Louisiana I discovered that there were not only myths about what male marines encounter in basic training but more myths about the women marines training Most of what I heard was negative Some of what I heard was that all women marines were masculine None of them were heterosexual I listened as some said that before meeting me that they believed that most of the women that joined the marines were unattractive Also incapable of landing a husband I also heard that only women that did not want to accomplish much in life joined the marines Most of those that I spoke with were thinking as I did before I joined That women could not join the Marine Corps That this branch of the armed services was dominated and designed only for men My goal in writing this book is to share the fact that not only can women become marines but that it can also be a very rewarding experience To also know that I understand just like any occupation everyone will not become a marine If they could we would not be such a recognized branch For those that want a rewarding adventure I feel that they should be a marine The Marine Corps recruiting motto The Few the Proud the Marines shows that the important thing is the quality of the person which is what is looked for and developed Thats why many women that have celebrated successful careers in the Marine Corps can say proudly that they are more than women they are women marines
