Women And Children First:

Women and Children First Robin Miskolcze, 2007-12-01 At a crucial time in American history narratives of women in command or imperiled at sea contributed to the construction of a national rhetoric Robin Miskolcze makes her case by way of careful readings of images of women at sea before the Civil War in her book Women and Children First Though the sea has traditionally been interpreted as the province of men women have gone to sea as mothers wives figureheads and slaves In fact in the nineteenth century women at sea contributed to the formation of an ethics of survival that helped to define American ideals This study examines often for the first time images of women at sea in antebellum narratives ranging from novels and sermons to newspaper accounts and lithographs Anglo American women in antebellum sea narratives are often portrayed as models of American ideals derived from women s seemingly innate Christian self sacrifice Miskolcze argues that these ideals in conjunction with the maritime directive of women and children first during sea disasters in turn defined a new masculine individualism one that was morally minded rooted in Christian principles and dedicated to preserving virtue Further Miskolcze contends that without the antebellum sea narratives portraying the Christian self sacrifice of women the abolitionist cause would have suffered African American women appealed to the directive of women and children first to make manifest their own womanhood and by extension their own humanity

Women and Children First Judith Dean Gething Hughes, 1996-03-01 Historian Gerda Lerner posed the question What would history be like if seen through the eyes of women In this insightful and sympathetic look at Hawaii s first female territorial senator Elsie Wilcox 1874 1954 Judith Dean Gething Hughes adapts Lerner s question to tell the story of a remarkable woman whose life reflects key aspects of the social history of modern Hawaii the enormous impact of nineteenth century missionaries and of the sugar plantations which dominated Hawaii s economy for nearly a century after the Civil War the powerful influence of the American progressive movement in public education and social welfare and the onset of the bloodless revolution of the 1950s which replaced the Caucasian Republican oligarchy with a Democratic party led by second generation Asian Americans The grandchild of missionaries and the niece of a prosperous Kauai sugar planter Wilcox was born and raised on her uncle s plantation Unlike many of her peers however Wilcox did not marry but pursued a full time career as an advocate for change including education improved health and full participation in the life of the community for second generation Asian Americans Hughes looks to Wilcox s missionary heritage to reveal the values that shaped her character and to her education at Wellesley College which transformed her into a Progressive and by the standards of the early twentieth century a feminist Hughes argues that although Wilcox s education and prominent social standing contributed to making her an old maid they also enabled her to serve as Kauai s commissioner for education for twelve years until her election to the territorial Senate in 1932 and 1936 There she established herself as the Senate s conscience on women s and children s issues and played a key role in creating Hawaii s social security laws Women and Children First not only details the life of one of Hawaii s most dedicated social reformers but also provides insights into the historical development of Kauai and Hawaii in general from 1910 to 1940 Women and Children First (Routledge Revivals) Valerie Fildes, Lara Marks, Hilary Marland, 2013-10-14 First published in 1992 this book explores the efforts to counteract the high maternal and infant death rates present between the end of the nineteenth century and the Second World War It looks at the problem in five different continents and shows the varying approaches used by the governments institutions and individuals in those countries Contributors display how policy and practice have been shaped by the structure of maternity services nationalism the conflict of colonization and cultural factors In doing so they illustrate how welfare policy and funding were moulded throughout the world in the times considered
