Women And Writing:

Women Writing and Writing about Women Mary Jacobus, 2012 United by a common focus on writing by and about women this collection of contemporary essays spanning the novel poetry drama film and criticism emphasises some of the problems of theory and practice posed by writing as a woman and by women's representation in literature The subjects of individual essays range from the nineteenth and twentieth century novel to avant garde film and from Victorian women poets to Russian women poets of today Drawing on structuralism psychoanalysis semiotics socio linguistics and Marxist analyses of literature the diverse essays suggest the variety and vigour of contemporary feminist literary criticism as well as representing the debates animating it Successfully bridging the gap between literary criticism and literary production the scope of this collection will be of considerable interest to those concerned with developments in literary criticism as well as to those in the field of women's studies

Mother, She Wrote Yi-Lin Yu, 2005 In this enjoyable and insightful book Yi Lin Yu takes the heated and ongoing feminist debate over motherhood and maternal subjectivity onto a new plane in search of a new synthesis With its specific focus on the three tiered matrilineal narratives Mother She Wrote is distinguished by its complex and innovative deployment of psychoanalytic subject relations theories and a meticulous and detailed discussion of various literary texts which calls forth a powerful reformulation of these narratives One of the main strengths of this book is this simultaneous and tactful command of theory and literary practice Apart from advocating the burgeoning development of women's writing of matrilineal narratives the author also sheds new light on further research in the area of feminist motherhood and mothering

Women Writing the Academy Gesa Kirsch,1993-10-28 Women

Writing the Academy is based on an extensive interview study by Gesa E Kirsch that investigates how women in different academic disciplines perceive and describe their experiences as writers in the university Kirsch's study focuses on the writing strategies of successful women writers their ways of establishing authority and the kinds of audiences they address in different disciplinary settings Based on multiple interviews with thirty five women from five different disciplines anthropology education history nursing and psychology and four academic ranks seniors graduate students and faculty before and after tenure this is the first book to systematically explore the academic context in which women write and publish While there are many studies in literary criticism on women as writers of fiction there has not been parallel scholarship on women as writers of professional discourse be it inside or outside the academy Through her research for example Kirsch found that women were less likely than their male counterparts to think of their work as sufficiently significant to write up and submit for publication tended to hold on to their work longer than men before sending it out and were less likely than men to revise and resubmit manuscripts that had been initially rejected This book is significant in that it investigates a new area of research gender and writing and in doing so brings together findings on audience authority and gender

Contemporary Women's Writing Maroula Joannou, 2000 This wide ranging study provides a historically grounded account of women's fiction in the 1960s and the 1970s relating changes in the social structure of Britain and the United States to the literary representations of women's experience

Women, Writing, and the Theater in the Early Modern Period Annette Kreis-Schinck, 2001 The previous revolutionary period in England had changed the nation enough for women's participation in all areas of society politics and religion to become feasible and visible This emergent visibility gave them a chance to become actresses after 1661 and sparked their desire to offer contributions to the public stage after 1669
