Truth And Fantasy:

Truth, Fantasy, and Paradox: the Fairy Tales of George MacDonald, G. K. Chesterton, and C. S. Lewis Jennifer Overkamp, 2014-12-04 If you believe in Truth why make up lies For these three thinkers the answer is much richer and more exciting than just that the pleasures of fiction are necessary for readers to swallow the pill of morality In this project I examine the defenses of fairy tales written by George MacDonald G K Chesterton and C S Lewis within the context of the long standing debate among Christians about the moral value of fiction and fantasy Starting with Tertullian Jerome and Augustine and concluding with the modern debate over magic in children s literature I discuss the seven typical attacks on fiction and the seven often used defenses of it While each of these writers offers ideas which go beyond the typical arguments by which Christians have historically defended fiction the one thing they have in common is that they champion the paradoxical idea that in imagining the untrue writers offer unique access to truth This idea is a significant contribution to the on going Christian debate over fiction I examine how these authors ideas about fantasy fiction form a paradigm that considers the relationship of truth and fiction and that can be used as a kind of literary criticism Having determined the authors ideas about what fairy tales are supposed to do and how they should be read I then turn to the fairy tales written by the authors themselves I consider George MacDonald s Adela Cathcart in light of the author s theories about the spiritually healing aspects of fantasy G K Chesterton s obsession with fairy tales is examined next particularly how he claimed the fairy tale motif as a source and summit of much of his philosophy The Chronicles of Narnia by C S Lewis are examined in light of Lewis s ideas about fairy tale pleasures and violence as well as his standards for literary criticism as outlined in An Experiment in Criticism which place a high value on form and structure In 2010 this project was named a Dissertation of Note by Children s Literature a journal published by John Hopkins University It was also written in a straightforward manner to in order to be accessible to non academics

Reality Is Just A Possible Fantasy Maria Karvouni Truth, Reality is evil While everyone considers it good That is why reality is actually a fantasy Possible because one can never know And that exactly is what creates the wrong reality The facts are irrefutable even when false The truth is secretly abused and only the lies see the light Everyone should be able to escape forced fantasies and realize all of it for the sake of true fairness and true justice Destroy reality fairly by knowing all its dark secrets before it destroys you unfairly Praise of author s quotes What do you think That we live in a world controlled by the evil and unintellectual yet people have never ceased to flock to it with enthusiasm and even fervor In contemporary contexts we devour popular romance and fantasy novels like The Lord of the Rings Harry Potter and Game of Thrones reference them in conversations and create online communities to expound passionately and intelligently upon their characters and worlds But romance is unrealistic critics say doing readers a disservice by not accurately representing human experiences It is considered by some to be a distraction from real literature a distraction from real life and little more Yet is it possible that romance is expressing a truth and a truth unrecognized by realist genres The Arthurian literature of the Middle Ages Karen Sullivan argues consistently ventriloquizes in its pages the criticisms that were being made of romance at the time and implicitly defends itself against those criticisms The Danger of Romance shows that the conviction that ordinary reality is the only reality is itself an assumption and one that can blind those who hold it to the extraordinary phenomena that exist around them It demonstrates that that which is rare ephemeral and inexplicable is no less real than that which is commonplace long lasting and easily accounted for If romance continues to appeal to audiences today whether in its Arthurian prototype or in its more recent incarnations it is because it confirms the perception or even the hope of a beauty and truth in the world that realist genres deny

Organized Religion is... Frederick J. Azbell, 2010-08-19 I have for a number of years since my retirement from teaching elementary school for thirty three years contemplated the possibility of writing a book expressing a few of my strongly held beliefs Events of the recent past had accelerated that urge The now defunct immoral Moral Majority the spiritless Christian Coalition the satanic Southern Baptist and the hypocritical Church of Christ plus other bigoted and hypocritical religious groups keep waving their spiritless and satanic doctrines in my face while desecrating the flag of the United States by wrapping themselves in it My personal philosophy of life is based upon the fact that I am the pessimistically optimistic realist with a bent of humanistic pragmatism I choose to believe that things shall work out for the better but I know that if there be the slightest opportunity someone is going to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery I am a non believer in organized religious faiths of any kind I do not believe in any god that listens to or talks to man I am a Deist I believe that man would not have created his gods and religious faiths if he had had more faith in himself with a better understanding of his universe and nature I do not wish to be negative simply realistic My head is not floating in the clouds or buried in the sod My mind is open to any logically developed philosophies My use of rational logic will not allow me to be convinced or swayed by irrational supernatural religious faiths The bigoted and hypocritical faith of Christianity is not my idea of the truth of reality or the reality of truth Satanic and fundamental faiths such as Christianity Judaism and Islam have been the greatest forces fermenting most of the hatred violence and wars in this world Organized religions have proven themselves to be the greatest deterrents in the advancement of humanity among the peoples of this world
