State Buildings Governance:

State-building Interventions in Post-Conflict Liberia Susanne Mulbah, 2017-09-27 Post conflict Liberia has been subjected to extensive international state building at some point hosting the largest and one of the longest UN peacekeeping missions in the world and inflow of aid that exceeds in multiples the GDP In order to understand the international state building efforts in Liberia it is pertinent to reflect them against the extractive and predatory nature of the Liberian republic and the central role natural resources exploitation and plantations have played in accommodating transnational interest in the country's abundant natural resources and fertile land This book focuses on the political economy of Liberian state building and in particular the question of the governance of natural resources By combining a historical perspective and ethnographic knowledge the author examines a number of interrelated questions How was access to the state distributed in Liberian state building How are those to be governed and their representation included in political economic decision making and more particularly in decisions over natural resources governance This book will be of interest to students and scholars of state building international development African political science and political economy Armed State Building Paul D. Miller, 2013-08-15 Since 1898 the United States and the United Nations have deployed military force more than three dozen times in attempts to rebuild failed states Currently there are more state building campaigns in progress than at any time in the past century including Afghanistan Bosnia Kosovo the Democratic Republic of Congo Haiti Sudan Liberia Cote d'Ivoire and Lebanon and the number of candidate nations for such campaigns in the future is substantial Even with a broad definition of success earlier campaigns failed more than half the time In this book Paul D Miller brings his decade in the U.S. military intelligence community and policy worlds to bear on the question of what causes armed international state building campaigns by liberal powers to succeed or fail The United States successfully rebuilt the West German and Japanese states after World War II but failed to build a functioning state in South Vietnam After the Cold War the United Nations oversaw relatively successful campaigns to restore order hold elections and organize post conflict reconstruction in Mozambique Namibia Nicaragua and elsewhere but those successes were overshadowed by catastrophes in Angola Liberia and Somalia The recent effort in Iraq and the ongoing one in Afghanistan where Miller had firsthand military intelligence and policymaking experience are yielding mixed results despite the high levels of resources dedicated and the long duration of the missions there Miller outlines different types of state failure analyzes various levels of intervention that liberal states have tried in the state building process and distinguishes among the various failures and successes those efforts have provoked United States Government Organization Manual , Delivering Aid Without Government Tamer Qarmout, 2017-05-10 In a fragile and conflict ridden context such as the Gaza Strip where the de facto Hamas government faces isolation and lacks international recognition the provision of aid and development schemes challenges donors and CSOs delivering services to Palestinians This volume examines how international donors influenced the reconstruction and recovery policy agenda as well as its implementation Moreover as a result of the no contact policy recovery and reconstruction schemes were delivered with limited involvement from the de facto Hamas government raising questions about the efficacy of the governance without government concept This book examines the dynamics and the impact of international donors financing of Civil Society Organizations that were involved in the reconstruction of the Gaza Strip It expands on the existing analysis of transnational aid actors influence found in the public policy literature while contributing to our understanding of the concrete and more specific impact of international donors financing on the livelihoods of the Palestinian people
