

Practice tip: How to assess and support students with reading and speech sound difficulties

A school-aged child with a history of a speech sound disorder is at a significantly increased risk of reading difficulties.

About 25-30%

of children with reading difficulties have a history of speech sound disorders in preschool.

When assessing the reading skills of a school-aged child with a persistent speech sound disorder (or history), professionals need to go beyond just checking grapheme-phoneme links and word recognition skills, and assess:

- motor-speech production skills, e.g. on phonologically complex, polysyllabic words, syllable sequencing and production tasks; and
- oral language skills, including vocabulary, morphology, syntax, and social use in discourse.

When supporting a student with reading difficulties and a persistent speech sound disorder (e.g. childhood apraxia of speech), we should take an integrated approach combining:

- speech sound production practice;
- explicit training of phoneme-grapheme links, and blending & segmenting skills; and
- (if needed) explicit support for oral and written expressive language development, including at the sentence and discourse levels.

Teaching Children With Speech And Language Difficulties:

Teaching Children with Speech and Language Difficulties Deirdre Martin,2013-10-28 First Published in 2000 Each publication in this series of books is concerned with approaches to intervention with children with specific needs in mainstream schools This book is written particularly for newly qualified teachers who have not worked in mainstream classrooms with learners who have speech and language difficulties Experienced teachers may also find it helpful if they are new to working with learners who have these difficulties The ideas in the book are set in the inclusive context of a mainstream classroom where children with different language learning needs are supported to access a broad and balanced curriculum Applied Linguistics and Primary School Teaching Sue Ellis,Elspeth McCartney,2011-04-07 Modern primary teachers must adapt literacy programmes and ensure efficient learning for all They must also support children with language and literacy difficulties children learning English as an additional language and possibly teach a modern foreign language To do this effectively they need to understand the applied linguistics research that underpins so many different areas of the language and literacy curriculum This book illustrates the impact of applied linguistics on curriculum frameworks and pedagogy It captures the range of applied linguistics knowledge that teachers need and illustrates how this is framed and is used by policy makers researchers teacher educators and the other professions who work with teachers in schools It considers how to effect professional development that works It is essential reading for primary teachers but also for speech and language therapists educational psychologists learning support teachers and all those doing language or literacy research in the primary classroom Teaching Children to Listen Liz Spooner,Jacqui Woodcock,2010-03-25 Complete practical guide to improving the listening skills of children of a range of abilities aged 3 11 Teaching Children 3-11 Anne D Cockburn,Graham Handscomb,2011-11-11 Focusing on the major topics underpinning professional studies strands in primary and early years teacher education Teaching Children Three Eleven provides indispensable coverage of vital practical and conceptual issues that support good teaching practice This Third Edition of the popular textbook has been carefully revised following detailed lecturer feedback to meet the evolving needs of students training to teach across the three to eleven age range Featuring four new chapters on curriculum development cross curricular teaching diversity and inclusion and communication in the classroom and engaging with the growing need for Master s level study in teacher education the new edition offers a balanced contemporary overview of modern teaching practice in an engaging and accessible manner This is essential reading for all students on primary and early years initial teacher education courses including undergraduate BEd BA with QTS postgraduate PGCE SCITT and employment based routes into teaching It will also be invaluable for those starting out on their professional careers Anne Cockburn is Professor of Early Years Education at the University of East Anglia Graham Handscomb is Senior Manager in Strategic Development for School Improvement and Early Years at Essex County Council Encyclopedia of Diversity in Education James A. Banks,2012-05-17 The diversity education literature both nationally and internationally is broad and diffuse. Consequently, there needs to be a systematic and logical way to organize and present the state of research for students and professionals. American citizens need to understand the dynamics of their increasingly diverse communities and institutions and the global world in which we live, work, and lead. With continually evolving information on diversity policies, practices, and programs, it is important to have one place where students, scholars, teachers, and policymakers can examine and explore research, policy, and practice issues and find answers to important questions about how diversity in U.S. education is enriched with theories, research, and practices in other nations, are explained and communicated, and how they affect institutional change at both the K-12 and postsecondary levels. With about 700 signed entries with cross references and recommended readings, the Encyclopedia of Diversity in Education (4 volumes in both print and electronic formats) will present research and statistics, case studies, and best practices, policies, and programs at pre and postsecondary levels. Diversity is a worldwide phenomenon, and while most of the entries in the Encyclopedia will focus on the United States, diversity issues and developments in nations around the world, including the United States, are intricately connected. Consequently, to illuminate the many aspects of diversity, this volume will contain entries from different nations in the world in order to illuminate the myriad aspects of diversity. From A to Z, this Encyclopedia will cover the full spectrum of diversity issues, including race, class, gender, religion, language, exceptionality, and the global dimensions of diversity as they relate to education. This four-volume reference work will be the definitive reference for diversity issues in education in the United States and the world.

The SAGE Encyclopedia of Contemporary Early Childhood Education Donna Couchenour, J. Kent Chrisman, 2016-08-16
The general public often views early childhood education as either simply babysitting or as preparation for later learning. Of course, both viewpoints are simplistic. Deep understanding of child development, best educational practices based on development, emergent curriculum, cultural competence, and applications of family systems are necessary for high-quality early education. Highly effective early childhood education is rare in that it requires collaboration and transitions among a variety of systems for children from birth through eight years of age. The SAGE Encyclopedia of Contemporary Early Childhood Education presents in three comprehensive volumes advanced research, accurate practical applications of research, historical foundations, and key facts from the field of contemporary early childhood education. Through approximately 425 entries, this work includes all areas of child development: physical, cognitive, language, social, emotional, aesthetic, as well as a comprehensive review of best educational practices with young children, effective preparation for early childhood professionals, and policy-making practices, and addresses such questions as: How is the field of early childhood education defined? What are the roots of this field of study? How is the history of early childhood education similar to yet different from the study of public education? What are the major influences on understandings of best practices in early childhood education?
