Teaching Social Studies That Matters Curriculum For Active Learning:

Teaching Social Studies that Matters Stephen J. Thornton, 2005 No plan to increase achievement and enact reform in the social studies classroom will succeed without recognizing the central importance of the teacher as the gatekeeper of instruction In this book Thornton details why teachers must develop strong skills in curriculum planning and teaching methods in order for effective instruction to occur Thornton helps teachers to develop a vision of their practice that will build strong social studies programs and inspire students to learn This book features replicable examples of the kinds of reflective practice that will enable teachers to animate classroom instruction and create a dynamic social studies curriculum and an analysis of how teachers adapt and shape state and district level curricula and classroom materials to fit the specific needs of their students and a model of how to develop an instructional program with suggestions for lesson planning

Teaching Social Studies to English Language Learners Stephen J. Thornton, Bárbara C. Cruz, 2013-03-12 Teaching Social Studies to English Language Learners provides readers with a comprehensive understanding of both the challenges that face English language learners ELLs and ways in which educators might address them in the social studies classroom The authors offer context specific strategies for the full range of the social studies curriculum including geography U S history world history economics and government These practical instructional strategies will effectively engage learners and can be incorporated as a regular part of instruction in any classroom An annotated list of web and print resources completes the volume making this a valuable reference to help social studies teachers meet the challenges of including all learners in effective instruction Features and updates to this new edition include An updated and streamlined Part 1 provides an essential overview of ELL theory in a social studies specific context Teaching Tips offer helpful suggestions and ideas for creating and modifying lesson plans to be inclusive of ELLs Additional practical examples and new pedagogical elements in Part 3 include more visuals suggestions for harnessing new technologies discussion questions and reflection points New material that takes into account the demands of the Common Core State Standards as well as updates to the web and print resources in Part 4

The Idea of a Social Studies Education James A. Duplass, 2017-09-22 Offering a fresh take on the purpose of social studies today James A Duplass positions philosophical counseling as a way for teachers to engage students in thinking deeply about what it means to be a citizen in a democratic society The Idea of a Social Studies Education takes a uniquely humanistic approach to the idea of a social studies education to show how teachers can act as philosophical counselors in preparing students for active civic engagement Duplass reminds the reader of the needs of students in modern society who seek to develop an identity worth living and the role social studies can play in students achieving that process By focusing on the cultivation of students autonomy authenticity efficacy and agency Duplass approach avoids political biases and instead encourages critical thinking to decipher what a democratic ideology truly is

Keywords in the Social Studies Daniel G. Krutka, Annie McMahon Whitlock, Mark Helmsing, 2018 This collection of essays presents a rousing intellectual exercise to all who care about why teach this rather than that in social studies The approach is refreshingly comprehensive in an era when social studies is often reduced to just a few academic disciplines Stephen J Thornton Professor of Social Studies Education University of South Florida Author of Teaching Social Studies That Matters Curriculum for Active Learning

Doing History Linda S. Levstik, Keith C. Barton, 2022-09-06 Now in its sixth edition Doing History offers a unique perspective on teaching and learning history in the elementary and middle grades Through case studies of teachers and students in diverse classrooms and from diverse backgrounds it shows children engaging in authentic historical investigations often in the context of an integrated social studies curriculum The book is grounded in the view that children can engage in valid forms of historical inquiry asking questions collecting and analyzing evidence examining the varied perspectives and experiences of people in the past and creating evidence based historical accounts and interpretations Grounded in contemporary sociocultural theory and research the text features vignettes in each chapter showing communities of teachers and students doing history in environments rich in literature art writing and discussion The authors explain how these classrooms reflect contemporary principles of teaching and learning and thus the descriptions not only provide specific examples of successful activities but also place them in a context that allows teachers to adapt and apply them in a wide range of settings Doing History emphasizes diversity in two ways Readers encounter students from a variety of backgrounds and see how their diverse experiences can form the foundation for learning and they also see examples of how teachers can engage students with diverse experiences and perspectives in the past including those that led to conflict and oppression The book also discusses principles for working with English learners and newcomers and it provides guidance in using multiple forms of assessment to evaluate the specifically historical aspects of children s learning Updates to this edition include updated historical and instructional examples to ensure currency new suggestions for children s literature to support good teaching expanded attention to teaching about oppressed groups in history and greater attention to when historical perspective taking is and is not appropriate Journal of Social Studies Research ,2012 American Educational Research Association Annual Meeting Program American Educational Research Association,2005 The SNU Journal of Education Research ,2006
