

What is Christian Science?

Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered and founded Christian Science, defined it as "the law of God, the law of good." ("Practical Divine Science: This deeper understanding of God as infinite Love and unending goodness leads to prayer that can heal, sustain, and restore anyone.")

In 1822, a life-threatening injury convinced Mary Baker Eddy to turn unconditionally to God. She learned her Bible to an extent of verse-by-verse study and completely in new terms of God. Spirit is the only reality, beyond her thoughts, and she was healed spontaneously. But she wanted to know how and why. For the next several years, she continued to search and found in the Bible that unending Love of God that would form the basis of her teachings and practice of Christian Science.

Since then, many have found that when they turn unconditionally to God through the Science of Christianizing their thoughts is revealed and character transformed. And people realizing miracles as healings, cures for their afflictions, peace, and sustenance have found and will find by God.
