

A Step-by-Step Guide to Finding an In-Home Caregiver

We understand that finding the ideal in-home caregiver can be an overwhelming task. To help you get started, use this step-by-step guide to navigate this difficult process.

Step 1: Identify Your Needs and Budget

Observe your loved one's behavior and identify where they need help. Maybe they're struggling to bathe, dress or transfer between rooms or are becoming forgetful. These suggest they need a caregiver who can help with activities of daily living or may have issues associated with mild cognitive impairment (MCI). Consider what you can afford. Research sources of financial help, such as Medicaid, Medicare and long-term care insurance.

Step 2: Research Potential Caregivers

Ask family and friends if they can provide a personal recommendation. Check for in-home care agencies in your area. You'll find a wealth of up-to-date information and useful links to local care providers. Other sources include your Area Agency on Aging and senior centers. Post on trusted social media networks, such as Nextdoor, to ask for recommendations
