The Story Of Chicago May:

The Story of Chicago May Nuala O'Faolain, 2006-11-07 A biography with narrative muscle and thrilling historical relevance Kirkus Reviews Legend says that May Duignan was tall with red gold hair and big blue eyes and that she was compellingly attractive to men At 19 she stole her family's savings and ran away from home in rural Ireland to America where she worked as a confidence trickster a thief a showgirl and a prostitute notorious as much for her violence as for her diamond rings The tabloids dubbed her The Queen of the Underworld Reaching across decades for points of connection Nuala O Faolain the bestselling author of Almost There and My Dream of You brings sympathetic scrutiny to the understanding of an outlaw experience like no other Chicago May May Churchill Sharpe, 193? Chicago May May Churchill Sharpe, 2020-05-15 This is a reproduction of the original artefact Generally these books are created from careful scans of the original This allows us to preserve the book accurately and present it in the way the author intended Since the original versions are generally quite old there may occasionally be certain imperfections within these reproductions We're happy to make these classics available again for future generations to enjoy Madcap May Richard Kurin, 2012-09-04 May Yohe was a popular entertainer from humble American origins who married and then abandoned a wealthy English Lord who owned the fabled Hope diamond one of the most valuable objects in the world and now exhibited at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington D C May was a romantic who had numerous lovers and at least three husbands though the tabloids rumored twelve One included the playboy son of the Mayor of New York May separated from him twice and cared for her next husband a South African war hero and invalid whom she later shot Crossing the paths of Ethel Barrymore Boris Karloff Oscar Hammerstein Teddy Roosevelt Consuelo Vanderbilt and the Prince of Wales May Yohe was a foul mouthed sweet voiced showgirl who drew both the praise and rebuke of Nobel laureate George Bernard Shaw Nicknamed Madcap May she was a favorite of the press In later years she faced several maternity claims and a law suit which she won She was hospitalized in an insane asylum and escaped She ran a rubber plantation in Singapore a hotel in New Hampshire and a chicken farm in Los Angeles When all else failed she washed floors in a Seattle shipyard and during the Depression held a job as a government clerk Shortly before her death she fought successfully to regain her lost U S citizenship How was this woman May Yohe able to charm her way to international repute live an impossible life and also find the strength to persevere in light of the losses she suffered in wealth citizenship love and sanity Madcap May assembled from her writings and historical interviews archival records newspaper stories scrapbooks photographs playbills theatrical reviews souvenirs and silent film tells her heretofore lost story Irish Women Writers Elke D'hoker, 2010 After a decade in which women writers have gradually been given more recognition in the study of Irish literature this collection proposes a reappraisal of Irish women's writing by inviting dialogues with new or hitherto marginalised critical frameworks as well as with foreign and transnational literary traditions Several essays explore how Irish women writers engaged with European themes and traditions through the genres of travel writing the historical novel the monologue and the fairy tale Other contributions are concerned with the British context in which some texts were published and argue for the existence of Irish inflections of phenomena such as the New Woman suffragism or vegetarianism Further chapters emphasise the transnational character of Irish women s writing by applying continental theory and French feminist thinking to various texts in other chapters new developments in theory are applied to Irish texts for the first time Casting the efforts of Irish women in a new light the collection also includes explorations of the work of neglected or emerging authors who have remained comparatively ignored by Irish literary criticism
