The Structure Of Multimodal Dialogue Ii:

The Structure of Multimodal Dialogue II Martin M. Taylor, Françoise Néel, Don Bouwhuis, 2000-03-15 Most dialogues are multimodal When people talk they use not only their voices but also facial expressions and other gestures and perhaps even touch When computers communicate with people they use pictures and perhaps sounds together with textual language and when people communicate with computers they are likely to use mouse gestures almost as much as words How are such multimodal dialogues constructed This is the main question addressed in this selection of papers of the second Venaco Workshop sponsored by the NATO Research Study Group RSG 10 on Automatic Speech Processing and by the European Speech Communication Association ESCA The Structure of Multimodal Dialogue II M. M. Taylor, F. Néel, Don G. Bouwhuis, 2000 Most dialogues are multimodal When people talk they use not only their voices but also facial expressions and other gestures and perhaps even touch When computers communicate with people they use pictures and perhaps sounds together with textual language and when people communicate with computers they are likely to use mouse gestures almost as much as words How are such multimodal dialogues constructed This is the main question addressed in this selection of papers of the second Venaco Workshop sponsored by the NATO Research Study Group RSG 10 on Automatic Speech Processing and by the European Speech Communication Association ESCA The Structure of Multimodal Dialogue Maurice Martin Taylor, Françoise Néel, 1989 Spoken, Multilingual and Multimodal Dialogue Systems Ramon Lopez Cozar Delgado, Masahiro Araki, 2007-01-11 Dialogue systems are a very appealing technology with an extraordinary future Spoken Multilingual and Multimodal Dialogues Systems Development and Assessment addresses the great demand for information about the development of advanced dialogue systems combining speech with other modalities under a multilingual framework It aims to give a systematic overview of dialogue systems and recent advances in the practical application of spoken dialogue systems Spoken Dialogue Systems are computer based systems developed to provide information and carry out simple tasks using speech as the interaction mode Examples include travel information and reservation weather forecast information directory information and product order Multimodal Dialogue Systems aim to overcome the limitations of spoken dialogue systems which use speech as the only communication means while Multilingual Systems allow interaction with users that speak different languages Presents a clear snapshot of the structure of a standard dialogue system by addressing its key components in the context of multilingual and multimodal interaction and the assessment of spoken multilingual and multimodal systems In addition to the fundamentals of the technologies employed the development and evaluation of these systems are described Highlights recent advances in the practical application of spoken dialogue systems This comprehensive overview is a must for graduate students and academics in the fields of speech recognition speech synthesis speech processing language and human computer interaction technology It will also prove to be a valuable resource to system developers working in these areas Globalization in English Studies Maria Giorgieva, Allan James, 2010-02-19

Globalization the concept used to account for the multitude of linkages interconnections and interdependences that currently transcend territorial and sociocultural boundaries in the world has been in the centre of continual controversy over its meaning scope intensity and social significance for post modern societies However whether considered from the narrow angle of current socio economic developments or from the broad perspective of evolutionary processes straddling all spheres of life globalization is generally acknowledged to refer to a complex set of processes of modernization technologization liberalization and integration operationalized through language and in a language shared by all those involved For a number of geo historical socio political economic and technological reasons the language that has firmly established itself as the language of international communication is English As a result Global English takes a primary place in discussions of the effect of globalization on world societies and culture The volume Globalization in English Studies addresses the issue of how globalization impacts upon culture literature language communication and language learning and use policies which are taken to constitute the multiplex disciplinary space of English Studies Written by authors with different language cultural and theoretical backgrounds this collection of eleven chapters throws light on how global and local entities are subtly intertwined refashioned and rescaled in different geo political and sociocultural contexts The book is divided into four parts The first part Globalization in Culture dwells upon the effects of globalization in particular cultural domains and the institutional attempts in some countries at reducing its negative consequences for local practices The second part Globalization in Literature examines the impact of global integration processes on social life In particular it focuses on new developments as the hybridization and technologization of societies that tend to wipe out borders traditionally taken as reference points in building identity and a sense of belonging The third part Globalization in Language Communication focuses on intercultural communication and the opportunities different multi modal settings offer for the the realisation of intertextuality and interdiscursivity Of particular interest is how local people select appropriate and creatively utilize cultural entities designed for global consumption to make them appear as their own The last part Global English and English Language Teaching Learning Policy approaches the issue from a pedagogical perspective and examines the changes that globalization has caused for learners learning environments and ways of speaking Ranging over a variety of domains subsumed within English Studies this collection of studies can serve as a good base for the cross disciplinary synergy of ideas and fruitful debate among scholars and practitioners with a vested interest in Global English

Structure of multimodal dialogue ,1989 Abduction, Belief and Context in Dialogue Harry Bunt,William Black,2000-11-13 Language is always generated and interpreted in a certain context and the semantic syntactic and lexical properties of linguistic expressions reflect this Interactive language understanding systems such as language based dialogue systems therefore have to apply contextual information to interpret their inputs and to generate appropriate outputs but are in practice very poor at this This book contains a number of studies in Computational Pragmatics the newly emerging field of study of how contextual information can be effectively brought to bear in language understanding and generation The various chapters center around the conceptual formal and computational modeling of context in general of the relevant beliefs of dialogue participants in particular and of the reasoning that may be applied to relate linguistic phenomena to aspects of the dialogue context These issues are discussed both from a theoretical point of view and in relation to their roles in prototypical language understanding systems
