Vocational Guidance For Girls:

Vocational Guidance for Girls Marguerite Dickson, 1919 Vocational Guidance for Girls Dickson, 2025 Vocational Guidance for Girls by Marguerite Stockman Dickson is a pioneering early 20th century work dedicated to helping young women navigate the world of work and career choices. Written at a time when women's roles in society were rapidly changing, the book offers practical advice, encouragement, and insight into the various professions and trades available to girls and young women. Dickson addresses the importance of self-knowledge, education, and the development of personal qualities such as responsibility, initiative, and perseverance. She explores a wide range of vocations, from teaching, nursing, and office work to more specialized fields like library science, laboratory work, and business. The book also discusses the social and economic factors influencing women's employment, the value of vocational training, and the need for guidance from parents, teachers, and counselors. With its blend of practical information, inspirational stories, and thoughtful analysis, Vocational Guidance for Girls remains a valuable historical resource reflecting the aspirations and challenges of women seeking meaningful and independent lives in the early 1900s.

Vocational Guidance for Girls Marguerite Stockman Dickson, 2023-07-18 First published in 1917, this book is a guide to help young women find meaningful work and vocations. Topics include self-knowledge, education, and career options. This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it. This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations. Vocational Guidance for Girls (Classic Reprint) Marguerite Stockman Dickson, 2015-06-29 Excerpt from Vocational Guidance for Girls: "Fortunate are we to have from the pen of Mrs. Dickson a book on the vocational guidance of girls. Mrs. Dickson has the all-round life experiences which give her the kind of training needed for a broad and sympathetic approach to the delicate, intricate, and complex problems of woman's life in the swiftly changing social and industrial world. Mrs. Dickson was a teacher for seven years in the grades in the city of New York. She then became the partner of a superintendent of schools in the business of making a home. In these early homemaking years there came from the pen of Mrs. Dickson a series of historical books for the grades which have placed her among the leading educational writers of the country. During the long sickness of her husband, she filled for a while two administrative positions: homemaker and superintendent of schools. Her three children are now in high school and are beginning to plan for their own life work. With the broad training of homemaker, wife, mother, teacher, writer, and administrator, Mrs. Dickson has the combination of experiences to enable her to introduce teachers and mothers to the very difficult problems of planning wisely."

big life careers for our girls The book is so plainly and guardedly written that it can also be used as a textbook for the girls themselves in connection with civic and vocational courses The only difficulty with the book for a text is that it is so attractively written on such vital problems that the student will not stop reading at the end of the lesson About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
