Voice For Human Rights:

A Voice for Human Rights Mary Robinson, 2010-11-24 Few names are so closely connected with the cause of human rights as that of Mary Robinson. As former President of Ireland she was ideally positioned for passionately and eloquently arguing the case for human rights around the world. Over five tumultuous years that included the tragic events of 9/11 she offered moral leadership and vision to the global human rights movement. This volume is a unique account in Robinson's own words of her campaigns as United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights. A Voice for Human Rights offers an edited collection of Robinson's public addresses given between 1997 and 2002 when she served as High Commissioner. The book also provides the first in-depth account of the work of the Office of High Commissioner for Human Rights. With a foreword by Kofi Annan and an afterword by Louise Arbour the current High Commissioner for Human Rights the book will be of interest to all concerned with international human rights, international relations, development and politics. Voices at Work Alan Bogg, Tonia Novitz, 2014-03 This book investigates the intersection between law and worker voice in a sample of industrialised English speaking countries namely Australia, Canada, New Zealand, UK and USA. While these countries face broadly similar regulatory dilemmas they have significant differences between their industrial systems and legal cultures.

The Voice of the People? Wim Blockmans, 2024-01-31 Over the last two centuries Europe has developed various forms of political representation from which democratic parliamentary systems gradually emerged. This book unravels the conditions, scale and impact under which political participation of common burghers and peasants emerged. Political participation in Europe before the Revolutions moved away from the traditional focus on Three Estates which has often blurred the interpretation of popular participation's role in societies. This book instead examines Europe's key political variants such as high levels of commercialization and urbanization combined with a balance of powers between competing categories of actors in society controlling relatively independent resources which lead to political participation forming across the continent. Instead of starting from any ideal type of political participation this book focuses on the variation through time and space. Its composition and activity helps to explain the functions particular institutional settings fulfilled. The time frame 1100-1800 sheds light on the long-term evolutions such as institutional inertia and processes of oligarchizing. To reveal a correlation of economic and demographical growth with the claim of rising social classes to voice their interests. It also points to the opposite tendency the formation of fiscal-military-monarchical states. This book is essential reading for those interested in the formation of Europe's political structures and students of premodern political history. Papers and Proceedings

American Library Institute, 1920 List of fellows in 1915 and 1921 Native Voices Richard A. Grounds, George E. Tinker, David Eugene Wilkins, 2003 Native peoples of North America still face an uncertain future due to their unstable political, legal and economic positions. Views of their predicament continue to be dominated by non-Indian writers. In response a dozen Native American writers here reclaim their rightful role as influential voices in debates about Native communities.

These scholars examine crucial issues of politics law and religion in the context of ongoing Native American resistance to the dominant culture They particularly show how the writings of Vine Deloria Jr have shaped and challenged American Indian scholarship in these areas since 1960s They provide key insights into Deloria s thought while introducing some critical issues confronting Native nations Collectively these essays take up four important themes indigenous societies as the embodiment of cultures of resistance legal resistance to western oppression against indigenous nations contemporary Native religious practices and Native intellectual challenges to academia Essays address indigenous perspectives on topics usually treated by non Indians such as role of women in Indian society the importance of sacred sites to American Indian religious identity and relationship of native language to indigenous autonomy A closing essay by Deloria in vintage form reminds Native Americans of their responsibilities and obligations to one another and to past and future generations This book argues for renewed cultivation of a Native American Studies that is more Indian centered

The Case for Gay Rights David A. J. Richards, 2005 As Americans wrestle with debates over traditional values defense of marriage and gay rights reason often seems to take a back seat to emotion In response legal scholar Richards reflects upon the constitutional and democratic principles relating to privacy intimate life free speech tolerance and conscience that underpin these often heated debates The distillation of Richards s thirty year advocacy for the rights of gays and lesbians his book provides a reflective treatise on basic human rights that touch all of our lives He places in context two key Supreme Court cases the 1986 Bowers v Hardwick decision and the 2003 Lawrence v Texas decision which overturned it Drawing upon his own experiences as a gay man Richards interweaves personal observations with philosophical political judicial and psychological insights to make a case that gays
