Whales Candlelight And Stuff Like That General Extenders In English Discourse:

Whales, Candlelight, and Stuff Like That Maryann Overstreet, 2000-02-17 This innovative work provides the first comprehensive account of general extenders or something and stuff or whatever Combining insights from linguistics cognitive psychology and interactional sociolinguistics the author demonstrates that these small phrases are not simply vague expressions but have a powerful role in making interpersonal communication work The audience for this book includes linguists scholars of English teachers of English as a first and a second language sociolinguists psycholinguists and communications researchers

Whales, Candlelight, and Stuff Like that Maryann Overstreet, 2023 General Extenders Maryann Overstreet, George Yule, 2021-09-02 General extenders are phrases like or something and everything and things like that and stuff like that and and so on Although they are an everyday feature of spoken language are crucial in successful interpersonal communication and have multiple functions in discourse they have so far gone virtually unnoticed in linguistics This pioneering work provides a comprehensive description of this new linguistic category It offers new insights into ongoing changes in contemporary English the effect of grammaticalization novel uses as associative plural markers and indicators of intertextuality and the metapragmatic role of extenders in interaction The forms and functions of general extenders are presented clearly and accessibly enabling students to understand a number of different frameworks of analysis in discourse pragmatic studies From an applied perspective the book presents a description of translation equivalents an analysis of second language variation and practical exercises for teaching second language learners of English

Discourse-Pragmatic Variation and Change in English Heike Pichler, 2016-06-02 Introducing a range of new methods and insights for analysing discourse pragmatic variation and change this volume aims to inform future studies in the field

English Historical Linguistics 2008: Words, texts and genres Ursula Lenker, Hans Sauer, Judith Huber, Gaby Waxenberger, Robert Mailhammer, 2010 The fifteen papers selected for Volume II of English Historical Linguistics 2008 have a different emphasis than those in Volume I CILT 314 Lenker et al 2010 Nine concentrate on the development of the English vocabulary and six on historical text linguistics including the development of text types and of politeness strategies Of those in the former group three have their emphasis on etymology three on semantic fields and three on word formation although some cover more than one of these areas The topics include the treatment of etymological problems in the OED deverbal derivations formed from native verbs and from loan verbs the role of metaphor and metonymy in the evolution of word fields The field of historical text linguistics is introduced by a general survey which is followed by more specific studies focussing on 15th century legal and administrative texts from Scotland on early 15th century women's mystical writings on medical recipes from the 16th to the 18th centuries and on pauper letters from 18th century Essex The book should appeal to scholars interested in English etymology the history of semantic fields and of word formation as well as in historical text linguistics politeness strategies and standardization It provides not only theoretical considerations but also a wealth of case
