Milwaukee Television History Dick Golembiewski, 2008 Milwaukee not New York Chicago or Los Angeles was the scene of a number of television firsts The Journal Company filed the very first application for a commercial TV license with the FCC in 1938 The first female program director and news director in a major market were both at Milwaukee stations The city was a major battleground in the VHF vs UHF war that began in the 1950s The battle to put an educational TV station on the air was fought at the national state and local levels by the Milwaukee Vocational School WMVS TV was the first educational TV station to run a regular schedule of colorcasts and WMVT was the site of the first long distance rest of a digital over their signal This detailed story of the rich history of the city's television stations since 1930 is told through facts anecdotes and quotations from the on air talent engineers and managers who conceived constructed and put the stations on the air Included are discussions of the many locally produced shows often done live that once made up a large part of a station s broadcast day Through these stories some told here for the first time and the book s extensive photographic images the history of Milwaukee television comes alive again for the reader From the first early tests using mechanical scanning methods in the 1930s through the first successful digital television tests the politics conflicts triumphs and failures of Milwaukee s television stations are described in fascinating detail Book Jacket Broadcast Advertising Sherilyn K. Zeigler,Herbert H. Howard,1991 Radio Station Operations Lewis B. O'Donnell,Carl Hausman,Philip Benoit,1989 Triumph and Erosion in the American Media and Entertainment Industries Dan Steinbock,1995-03-30 The book opens with a discussion of the American economy and its macro effects on changes and developments in media and entertainment generally Then in Part I Steinbock looks at broadcasting and cable tracing the former s decline and the latter s rise and then at the multiplication of conglomerates the studios talent agencies home video and syndication companies theme parks and even the emerging producers of interactive multimedia and virtual reality A full section is devoted to all of the major players their corporate struggles with each other including the Time Warner and Paramount M A wars In Part II Steinbock discusses the electronic superhighway and other government initiated policies that will have a significant impact on strategic industry alliances The book concludes with an assessment of how all of the technological economic and political influences emerging today will radically reshape the media entertainment complex not only in the United States but throughout the world Broadcasting, Cable, the Internet, and Beyond Joseph R. Dominick,Barry L. Sherman,2004 Cultures in Collision ,1984 Collier's Encyclopedia ,1986

Manipulating the Ether Robert John Brown,1998 Franklin D Roosevelt was the first politician to recognize the power of radio He appealed directly to the American people for support of his New Deal and for his foreign policy Roosevelt s speeches and fireside chats were broadcast over networks only recently equipped with newsrooms Listeners immediately learned of events they earlier would not have heard about for days In those newsrooms commentators began to interpret the news for average listeners sometimes slanting it to reflect their own view But it fell to a young star to demonstrate the full power of the medium On October 30 1938 Orson Welles War of the Worlds broadcast brought widespread panic with its fictional newscast of an alien invasion How Roosevelt used radio how the news was reported and the changes Welles caused are all detailed Modern Radio Production Carl Hausman,Philip Benoit,Lewis B. O'Donnell,1996 On radio production

Brave New Words Biancamaria Tedeschini Lalli,Maurizio Vaudagna,1999 The Media Revolution in America and in Western Europe Everett M. Rogers,Francis Balle,1985 This step is a step toward greater internationalization of mass communication research Existing differences between the mass media of North American and Western European countries provide a basis for comparative analyses that illustrate how differences in national mass media systems can contribute towards intellectual understanding of communication behavior The world of communication scholarship can be divided into two main schools the empirical school and the critical school This volume represents some of the leading scholars of each school and is dedicated to the intellectual merging of the schools by means of fostering an improved understanding of each other
