

Early Childhood Education Career Path Possibilities

As an ECE, you have a set of unique skills that allow you to help cultivate healthy growth, learning and development in young children, assisting them in forming the critical foundational knowledge and abilities that they will need later in life.

Preschool Teacher

As a preschool teacher, you'll be tasked with helping young children develop the skills they need for school within a safe and nurturing environment.

Should you choose to become a preschool teacher, you'll likely begin your career as a teacher's aide or assistant, supervised by an experienced mentor.

Child Care Facility Operator or Director

You might also be interested in the day-to-day operations of a preschool or child care facility, dealing with training staff, setting objectives and standards and communicating well with families.

As a child care director, you will work on developing programs to ensure the success of children in your care, monitor student progress, prepare budgets and enhance your program beyond the basic curriculum standards.

Home-Based Daycare Provider or Nanny

You may prefer to work from your home, or within someone else's home when caring for preschoolers. This type of job is ideal for entrepreneurial educators who are interested in starting their own small business.

As a home-based daycare provider or nanny, you may find yourself working with a single child or several at a time. You'll plan daily schedules of age-appropriate activities to explore and reinforce new concepts, and may also be tasked with preparing healthy meals for the children in your care.

Indirect ECE Career Options

There are opportunities to apply your education, experience and expertise in early childhood education outside of a setting where you are working directly with children.

For example, some educators take an entrepreneurial route transitioning to a coaching or consulting role, helping child care and early learning programs that are looking for expertise in the areas of business management or educational programming.

Many organizations and associations working in early childhood education are seeking the specialization of early childhood educators. For example, at HiMama, we have several early childhood educators on our team that play the role of Community Advisor, working with child care and early learning programs to help them streamline their operations and educational programming.
