the absence of comprehensive benchmark b comprehensive compatibility modeling with the multi modal feature variables is largely untapped c how to utilize the domain knowledge to guide the machine learning d how to enhance the interpretability of the compatibility modeling and e how to model the user factor in the personalized compatibility modeling These challenges have been largely unexplored to date In this book we shed light on several state of the art theories on compatibility modeling In particular to facilitate the research we first build three large scale benchmark datasets from different online fashion websites including IQON and Amazon We then introduce a general data driven compatibility modeling scheme based on advanced neural networks To make use of the abundant fashion domain knowledge i e clothing matching rules we next present a novel knowledge guided compatibility modeling framework Thereafter to enhance the model interpretability we put forward a prototype wise interpretable compatibility modeling approach Following that noticing the subjective aesthetics of users we extend the general compatibility modeling to the personalized version Moreover we further study the real world problem of personalized capsule wardrobe creation aiming to generate a minimum collection of garments that is both compatible and suitable for the user Finally we conclude the book and present future research directions such as the generative compatibility modeling virtual try on with arbitrary poses and clothing generation
