Voices From Iran:

Voices From Iran Mahnaz Kousha, 2002-11-01 Mahnaz Kousha interviewed fifteen Iranian women in Tehran who originally came from cities and towns throughout Iran. The youngest was 38, the eldest in her 50s. Extensive excerpts from their dialogues form the heart of this remarkable book. With admirable candor, the women explore their relationships with their mothers, fathers, husbands, and children. They reflect upon the institutions of courtship and marriage and address issues of childcare, housework, and women's employment. They talk openly about their concerns, ambitions, and frustrations. Finally, they discuss everyday personal problems and the solutions they devise to cope with such difficulties. Offset by telling commentary, these conversations offer significant firsthand insights into the life experiences of the modern Iranian woman and her brave search for identity. Because it covers previously uncharted ground, this volume fills a sizable gap in the study of gender and family relationships in Iran. Abundant footnotes on similar studies in the United States and other countries not only add sociological richness but also make the book relevant beyond Iran and the Middle East. Voices from Iran Alex Bigham, Stephen Twigg, Foreign Policy Centre (London, England), 2006

Women in Iran: Emerging voices in the women's movement Hammed Shahidian, 2002. Extrait tir de amazon.com. Blending social scientific theories about feminism, social movements, and culture with the specifics of the Iranian situation, this volume examines changes in the structure of patriarchy from the 1960s to the present by looking at domestic labor, employment, education, politics, culture, and sexuality. Combining personal narratives and socio-philosophical discussion, Shahidian focuses on policies that shape gender relations, primarily on the Islamic government's strategies to re-strengthen patriarchal practices. A nascent secular feminism in Iran opts for far-reaching changes in gender relations but faces serious internal and external constraints. Voices from Iran, 2014

The #MeToo Movement in Iran Claudia Yaghoobi, 2023-08-24. The Iranian MeToo movement was a crucial form of resistance with ordinary Iranian women sharing their experiences of sexual harassment and assault in the public sphere of digital media. This is the first book of its kind, providing a comprehensive analysis of the Iranian MeToo movement. Based on archival, empirical, ethnographic, literary, and cultural research, the contributors discuss the abuse of women and society's responses to it. Contextualizing the historical framework of Iranian MeToo activism within larger Iranian feminist movements, as well as the historical background within the context of the Middle East, the contributors address how the privileged position of men who have been outed as rapists helps them to aggregate social, political, sexual, and economic capital through various networks in order to delegitimize the narratives of survivors. The volume also covers the intersections of various systems of oppression, specifically highlighting marginalized voices. The contributors highlight the power dynamics within digital feminist networks in Iran and its unique attributes due to political, social, and religious structures. The volume ends with a chapter focusing on cultural productions, specifically cinematic works through which some filmmakers have challenged normalizations of sexual harassment by offering alternative discourses which have arguably paved the way for the MeToo in

Iran Nuclear Accord and the Remaking of the Middle East Nader Entessar, Kaveh L. Afrasiabi, 2017-12-20 Entessar Afrasiabi's Iran Nuclear Negotiations Rowman Littlefield October 2015 offered a thorough analysis of the negotiation process between Iran and the 5+1 great powers about its nuclear program This book essentially builds upon it focusing this time on the final nuclear agreement the ensuing debates around it and its global and regional ramifications especially in the Middle East The first section analyzes the agreement through the prism of international relations theories using a constructivist critical theory approach This is followed by an overview of the intense debates in Iran the West and other parts of the world on the nuclear agreement and its various pros and cons not to mention the connected yet separate Iran IAEA agreement The second section covers Iran's foreign policy and its various priorities looking in particular at the impact of the nuclear deal on the country's external relations and orientations contextualized in terms of pre-existing issues and concerns and the profound influence of the nuclear agreement on the perceptions of Iranian power in the region and beyond Iran's relations with its Arab Turkish Russian and other neighbors are discussed focusing on both the direct and indirect impact of the nuclear agreement on these relations especially the paradoxical implications of the nuclear deal with respect to the non-nuclear crises in the Middle East such as the Syria Iraq crisis and the realignments that have put Iran at the crossroads of East and West Other issues covered include energy security regional economic cooperation the endemic sectarianism highlighted by Iran Saudi competition and the deadlock on the Middle East peace process The third section then examines the issue of a Middle East nuclear weapons free zone and the likely consequences of the Iran nuclear deal on this prospect which in turn raises the issue of regional proliferation and counterproliferation The last section explores some possible various scenarios and the challenges of implementation as a relatively long term agreement providing specific policy recommendations for the regional actors and the external powers that are stakeholders in the volatile Middle East

Trump and Iran Nader Entessar, Kaveh L. Afrasiabi, 2019-11-20 With the advent of the Trump Administration relations between Iran and the United States have become increasingly conflictual to the point that a future war between the two countries is a realistic possibility President Trump has unilaterally withdrawn the US from the historic Iran nuclear accord and has re-imposed the nuclear related sanctions which had been removed as a result of that accord Reflecting a new determined US effort to curb Iran's hegemonic behavior throughout the Middle East Trump's Iran policy has all the markings of a sharp discontinuity in the Iran containment strategy of the previous six US administrations The regime change policy spearheaded by a hawkish cabinet with a long history of antipathy toward the Iranian government has become the most salient feature of US policy toward Iran under President Trump This turn in US foreign policy has important consequences not just for Iran but also for Iran's neighbors and prospects of long term stability in the Persian Gulf and beyond This book seeks to examine the fluid dynamic of US Iran relations in the Trump era by providing a social scientific understanding of the pattern of hostility and antagonism
