Volkerkunde 1st Edition:

Adolf Bastian and the Psychic Unity of Mankind Klaus Peter Köpping, 1983 Adolf Bastian mapped a programme for anthropological research in the nineteenth century which is still accepted in the international scholarly community today without the figure of its founder being known This is the first time that seminal pieces of the work of this much neglected scholar have been translated into English Bastian had an impact directly and indirectly on geography psychology comparative religious studies and ethnology in the twentieth century

Before Boas Han F. Vermeulen, 2015-07 The history of anthropology has been written from multiple viewpoints often from perspectives of gender nationality theory or politics Before Boas delves deeper into issues concerning anthropology's academic origins to present a groundbreaking study that reveals how ethnography and ethnology originated during the eighteenth rather than the nineteenth century developing parallel to anthropology or the natural history of man Han F Vermeulen explores primary and secondary sources from Russia Germany Austria the United States the Netherlands Hungary the Czech Republic Slovakia France and Great Britain in tracing how ethnography originated as field research by German speaking historians and naturalists in Siberia Russia during the 1730s and 1740s was generalized as ethnology by scholars in Göttingen Germany and Vienna Austria during the 1770s and 1780s and was subsequently adopted by researchers in other countries Before Boas argues that anthropology and ethnology were separate sciences during the Age of Reason studying racial and ethnic diversity respectively Ethnography and ethnology focused not on other cultures but on all peoples of all eras Following G W Leibniz researchers in these fields categorized peoples primarily according to their languages Franz Boas professionalized the holistic study of anthropology from the 1880s into the twentieth century Archiv für Völkerkunde ,1990

The German Invention of Race Sara Eigen, Mark Larrimore, 2012-02-01 In The German Invention of Race historians philosophers and scholars in literary cultural and religious studies trace the origins of the concept of race to Enlightenment Germany and seek to understand the issues at work in creating a definition of race The work introduces a significant connection to the history of race theory as contributors show that the language of race was deployed in contexts as apparently unrelated as hygiene aesthetics comparative linguistics anthropology debates over the status of science theology and philosophy and Jewish emancipation The concept of race has no single point of origin and has never operated within the constraints of a single definition As the essays in this book trace the powerful resonances of the term in diverse contexts both before and long after the invention of the scientific term around

1775 they help explain how this pseudoconcept could in a few short decades have become so powerful in so many fields of thought and practice In addition the essays show that the fateful rise of racial thinking in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries was made possible not only by the establishment of physical anthropology as a field but also by other disciplines and agendas linked by the enduring associations of the word race
