Who Eats Bananas Levers:

Conjectures of a Guilty Bystander Thomas Merton, 2009-11-17 In this series of notes opinions experiences and reflections Thomas Merton examines some of the most urgent questions of our age With his characteristic forcefulness and candor he brings the reader face to face with such provocative and controversial issues as the death of God politics modern life and values and racial strife issues that are as relevant today as they were fifty years ago Conjectures of a Guilty Bystander is Merton at his best detached but not unpassionate humorous yet sensitive at all times alive and searching with a gift for language which has made him one of the most widely read and influential spiritual writers of our time

Imitation in Human and Animal Behavior Wanda Wyrwicka, 2018-01-16 Imitation is an often observed form of behavior that is beginning to attract widespread attention on the part of a variety of researchers Imitative acts of newborn babies and development of imitation skills in later life have been discussed in a variety of scientific studies but the large amount of observational and experimental data has been widely dispersed There is a need for a synthetic study in which the results of this research can be analyzed and the neural mechanisms of imitation can be explored and established Imitation in Human and Animal Behavior fulfills this need This book presents an overview of a number of studies on imitative behavior of humans and animals concentrating on selected cases of imitative behavior The early chapters discuss the results of studies on humans from ages of about one hour to three years of age and older It has been shown for example that newborn babies under one hour old are already able to imitate simple facial gestures There is a chapter devoted to the role of imitation in the cognitive development of children and adolescents describing also the use of imitation as a method in the therapy of phobias Finally there is a section that concentrates on imitation related to the tragic social problem of suicide among adolescents and adults including up to date statistical and clinical data The second half of the book focuses on the data obtained in studies on feeding among animals including examples of interspecies imitation Newly hatched chicks for instance imitate their mother in selection of grain color this is also true when the mother is replaced with an arrow shaped object resembling a pecking beak Included are observations on learning by imitation in rats cats and monkeys offering some data related to learning by following the leader The book also describes cases of inhibition of imitation in both humans and animals including a clinical case in which imitative behavior was disrupted after surgery on prefrontal lobes of the brain Imitation in Human and Animal Behavior is solidly rooted in observational and experimental data discussing the possible neural mechanisms underlying imitative behavior A hypothetical brain mechanism responsible for imitative behavior is proposed Imitation in Human and Animal Behavior will be fascinating and enlightening reading for psychologists neuroscientists pediatricians as well as nonprofessionals interested in behavior and development
