During the 2009 to 2013 economic recovery, the top 1% of the income distribution captured 95% of the economy’s overall income growth. Id. A recent study purporting to challenge this claim nonetheless acknowledges that “the lion’s share of growth” still went to the top 1% of the income distribution, even after accounting for changes to the tax law that provided incentives for the wealthy to take capital gains in 2012 rather than 2013.
