The Measured Word:

Measured Words Arielle Saiber, 2017-11-29 Measured Words explores the rich commerce between computation and writing that proliferated in fifteenth and sixteenth century Italy. In this captivating and generously illustrated work, Arielle Saiber studies the relationship between number, shape, and the written word in the works of four exceptional thinkers of the time: Leon Battista Alberti, Luca Pacioli, Niccolò Tartaglia, and Giambattista Della Porta. Although these Renaissance humanists came from different social classes and practised the mathematical and literary arts at varying levels of sophistication, they were all guided by a sense that there exist deep ontological and epistemological bonds between computational and verbal thinking and production. Their shared view that a network or continuity exists between the literary arts and mathematics yielded extraordinary results: from Alberti's treatise on cryptography and Pacioli's design calculations for the Roman alphabet to Tartaglia's poetic solutions of cubic equations and Della Porta's dramatic applications of geometry. Through lively, cogent analysis of these and other related texts of the period, Measured Words presents literally and figuratively brilliant examples of what interdisciplinary work can offer us. Natural Language Processing for Global and Local Business Pinarbasi, Fatih, Taskiran, M. Nurdan, 2020-07-31 The concept of natural language processing has become one of the preferred methods to better understand consumers, especially in recent years when digital technologies and research methods have developed exponentially. It has become apparent that when responding to international consumers through multiple platforms and speaking in the same language in which the consumers express themselves, companies are improving their standings within the public sphere. Natural Language Processing for Global and Local Business provides research exploring the theoretical and practical phenomenon of natural language processing through different languages and platforms in terms of today's conditions. Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as computational linguistics, information engineering, and translation technology, this book is ideally designed for IT specialists, academics, researchers, students, and business professionals seeking current research on improving and understanding the consumer experience. The Poetry of Knowledge and the 'Two Cultures' John G. Fitch, 2018-05-16 This book argues that poetry is compatible with systematic knowledge, including science, and indeed inherent in it. It also discusses particular poems that engage with such knowledge, including those of Lucretius, Vergil, and Vita Sackville-West. The book argues that there are substantial similarities between knowledge making and poetry making, for example in their being shaped by language, including metaphor, and in their seeking unity in the world under the impulse of eros and pleasure. The book also discusses some of the obstacles to a poetry of knowledge, including scientific objectivism, the Kantian tradition in philosophy, and the separation of the two cultures in our academic and intellectual institutions. The book is designed to be accessible to all those interested in the issue of the two cultures or in the role of poetry and of science in contemporary culture. The Measured Word Kurt Brown, 2001 Assembling the writings of leading contemporary poets, essayists, and thinkers Kurt Brown highlights ways in which poets use scientific discoveries and mathematical ideas to their artistic advantage and offers insight on the integration of technology and other discoveries into postmodernist poetry The Works of John Ruskin John Ruskin,1907 Volume 1 35 works Volume 36 37 letters Volume 38 provides an extensive bibliography of Ruskin s writings and a catalogue of his drawings with corrections to earlier volumes in George Allen s Library Edition of the Works of John Ruskin Volume 39 general index Patents for Inventions Great Britain.
