The Other Side of Language Gemma Corradi Fiumara, 2013-08-21 First published in 1990 Our philosophy is grounded in only half a language in which the power of discourse is deployed and the strength of listening ignored We are inhabitants of a culture that knows how to speak but not how to listen so we constantly mistake warring monologues for genuine dialogue In this remarkable book Gemma Corradi Fiumara seeks to redress that balance by examining the other side of language listening Synthesising the insights of Wittgenstein Heidegger and Gadamer among many others she puts forward a powerful argument for the replacement of the silent silence of traditional Western thought with the rich openness of an authentic listening

Regard for the Other E.S. Burt, 2009-10-18 Although much has been written on autobiography the same cannot be said of autothanatography the writing of one's death This study starts from the deconstructive premise that autobiography is aporetic not or not only a matter of a subject strategizing with language to produce an exemplary identity but a matter also of its responding to an exorbitant call to write its death The I dominated representations of particular others and of the privileged other to whom a work is addressed must therefore be set against an alterity plaguing the I from within or shadowing it from without This alterity makes itself known in writing as the potential of the text to carry messages that remain secret to the confessing subject Anticipation of the potential for the confessional text to say what Augustine calls the secret I do not know the secret of death engages the autothanatographical subject in a dynamic inventive and open ended process of identification The subject presented in these texts is not one that has already evolved an interior life that it seeks to reveal to others but one that speaks to us as still in process Through its exorbitant response it gives intimations of an interiority and an ethical existence to come Baudelaire emerges as a central figure for this understanding of autobiography as autothanatography through his critique of the narcissism of a certain Rousseau his translation of De Quincey's confessions with their vertiginously ungrounded subject in construction his artistic practice of self conscious thorough going doubleness and his service to Wilde as model for an aporetic secrecy The author discusses the interruption of narrative that must be central to the writing of one's death and addresses the I's dealings with the aporias of such structuring principles as secrecy Levinasian hospitality or interiorization as translation The book makes a strong intervention in the debate over one of the most read genres of our time

Nihilism and the Sublime Postmodern William Slocombe, 2013-11-05 This book examines the relationship between nihilism and postmodernism in relation to the sublime and is divided into three parts history theory and praxis Arguing against the simplistic division in literary criticism between nihilism and the sublime the book demonstrates that both are clearly implicated with the Enlightenment Postmodernism as a product of the Enlightenment is therefore implicitly related to both nihilism and the sublime despite the fact that it is often characterised as either nihilistic or sublime Whereas prior forms of nihilism are modernist because they seek to codify reality postmodernism creates a new formulation of nihilism postmodern nihilism that is itself sublime This is explored in relation to a broad survey of postmodern literature in two chapters the first on aesthetics and the second on ethics It offers a coherent thesis for reappraising the relationship between nihilism and the sublime and grounds this argument with frequent references to postmodern literature making it a book suitable for both researchers and those more generally interested in postmodern literature

Breath of Proximity: Intersubjectivity, Ethics and Peace Lenart Škof, 2015-02-06 This book offers an original contribution towards a new theory of intersubjectivity which places ethics of breath hospitality and non violence in the forefront Emphasizing Indian philosophy and religion Vedas and Upanishads and related cross cultural interpretations it provides new intercultural interpretations of key Western concepts which traditionally were developed and followed in the vein of reconceptualizations or revitalizations of Greek thought as in Nietzsche and Heidegger for example The significance of the book lies in its establishment of a new platform for thinking philosophically about intersubjectivity so as to nudge contemporary philosophy towards a more sensitive approach which is needed in our times Its originality lies in its innovative approach which searches for the origin of ethical gestures represented in respecting the breath breathing through the newly introduced concept of mesocosm as a space of a ritual or a new ethical space of intersubjective encounters The book also introduces the possibility of an original ethics based on breath Intended for philosophers feminists and others concerned with intercultural philosophy and comparative religion the book will appeal to readers interested in contemporary ethical and political theories of peaceful conflict resolution and concepts of hospitality A Breath of Hospitality will benefit all who seek a
