The Parent App Lynn Schofield Clark, 2013 New technologies offer new ways for families to connect access ideas and entertainment and manage the risks faced by children and teens but they also bring more responsibilities choices and challenges Clark argues that families experience digital and mobile technologies in their children s lives especially during the preteen and teen years quite differently depending on whether they are middle class or less advantaged Based on over ten years of interviews hundres of parents and children The Parent App explores these differences and provides the kind of guidance backed by thorough research that parents today desperately need The Parent Trap Lisa Manley, 2002 The Second Century of Cinema Wheeler W. Dixon, 2000-02-28 Contemplates the future of cinema in light of emerging digital technologies and new systems of distribution The Parent Trap Jasinda Wilder, 2021-08-10 He was my worst enemy He spent every waking moment devising fresh new ways of torturing me No one has ever been able to make me cry like Matthais Bristow my twin brother s best friend and the person on this planet I hate most Then he left for college and I was free of him For ten blessed years I was free of his torture Now he s back and he owns half of the family business I spent my entire life preparing to take over Is this going to be a new round of his old favorite game Make Delia McKenna Cry or am I to believe he s actually come back with good intentions The Parent Trap Nate G. Hilger, 2023-04-04 How parents have been set up to fail and why helping them succeed is the key to achieving a fair and prosperous society Few people realize that raising children is the single largest industry in the United States Yet this vital work receives little political support and its primary workers parents labor in isolation If they ask for help they are made to feel inadequate there is no centralized organization to represent their interests and there is virtually nothing spent on research and development to help them achieve their goals It s almost as if parents are set up to fail and the result is lost opportunities that limit children s success and make us all worse off In The Parent Trap Nate Hilger combines cutting edge social science research revealing historical case studies and on the ground investigation to recast parenting as the hidden crucible of inequality Parents are expected not only to care for their children but to help them develop the skills they will need to thrive in today s socioeconomic reality but most parents including even the most caring parents on the planet are not trained in skill development and lack the resources to get help How do we fix this The solution Hilger argues is to ask less of parents not more America should consider child development a public investment with a monumental payoff We need a program like Medicare call it Familycare to drive this investment To make it happen parents need to organize to wield their political power on behalf of children who will always be the largest bloc of disenfranchised people in this country The Parent Trap exposes the true costs of our society s unrealistic expectations around parenting and lays out a profoundly hopeful blueprint for reform Encyclopedia of Film Themes, Settings and Series Richard B. Transnational Film Remakes Iain Robert Smith, 2017-03-08 What happens when a film is remade in another national context How do notions of translation adaptation and localisation help us understand the cultural dynamics of these shifts and in what ways does a transnational perspective offer us a deeper understanding of film remaking Bringing together a range of international scholars Transnational Film Remakes is the first edited collection to specifically focus on the phenomenon of cross cultural remakes Using a variety of case studies from Hong Kong remakes of Japanese cinema to Bollywood remakes of Australian television this book provides an analysis of cinematic remaking that moves beyond Hollywood to address the truly global nature of this phenomenon Looking at iconic contemporary titles such as The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo and Oldboy as well as classics like La Bete Humaine and La Chienne this book interrogates the fluid and dynamic ways in which texts are adapted and reworked across national borders to provide a distinctive new model for understanding these global cultural borrowings
